Judge, Postoffice Aides Tangle Over Mailroom 'Racket'

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 13—(AP)—U. S. District Judge Willis W. Ritter started a one-man noise abatement campaign Wednesday to halt racket in a federal building m[illegible] room which he said sounded "like a bowling alley."

To enforce his desire for quiet, the judge had Postmaster David R Trevithick and 25 postal employes hailed into court.

To Trevithick he gave a lecture. Supervisor Francis Newman got a $100 fine, suspended, and 24 other workers were cited for contempt.

Handling of mail was held up for an hour.

All concerned promised to do their best to be quiet, but Postmaster Trevithick indicated he had some misgivings. Said he:

"My sworn obligation under the law is to move the mails as expeditiously as possible with the facilities at my disposal. The condition which all this is about has existed for 20 years and is part of the basic structure of the building."

A civil trial was in progress before Judge Ritter when the noise "like a bowling alley" came from a mail processing room directly beneath the courtroom. He directed the bailiff and deputy U. S. marshals to investigate and put a stop to the racket.

"The noise seemed to get worse," Judge Ritter recalled later when questioning Lester E. Peterson, clerk in charge of the mail handling room which was glutted wth an accumulation of mail from Tuesday's Armistice Day holiday.

Mail handlers and supervisors were hailed into court from the work floor a few at a time until the processing of mail—and the noise—had ceased.

Peterson then explained the noise came mostly from mechanically operated doors on two freight elevators and from floor trucks with metal casters used to move the heavy mail bags about.

Two mail handlers, followed by supervisor Newman and an officer walked into court. Each of the handlers dropped a bulky package to the floor, interrupting a witness.

Newman incurred his suspended fine when he accepted responsibility for the package dropping, explaining the packages contained stamped envelopes for which he personally was responsible.

The judge describing the noise as "intolerable and distracting to everyone in the courtroom," said:

"Of course the U. S. court cannot suspend operation of the postoffice and we cannot suspend operation of the court. That is why I have a proposal to make to see if the postoffice cannot be run with less noise.

"Some of the noise sounds to me like a careless, reckless, slamming, banging of packages."

Special Call Of Legislature Being Talked

Governor Undecided About December Meet On Prison Program

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—(AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche was undecided Thursday whether to call a special session of the State Legislature in December to consider his new $8½ million prison program.

The governor outlined his plan to leaders of the Ohio Legislature Wednesday night. Senators and representatives unanimously were of the opinion "the program would be adopted early in the regular session without difficulty."

But Lausche said he was afraid "the prison program might be allowed to go by the wayside" in the pressure of the regular session.

"I contemplate a further study of the matter before I decide whether the special session should be called or the proposals be submitted to the next general assembly," the governor said.

His program for modernizing the state's prison system contemplates conversion of Mansfield Reformatory into a medium security prison, operation of the Marion Training School as a reformatory and use of the Roseville institution primarily for physically handicapped and unemployable.

London would continue as a prison farm and Ohio Penitentiary, scene of a recent rebellion, would be for maximum security convicts and for a reception and classification center.

The governor said he would also like to see a new mental hospital built in Columbus or Tiffin so nonpenal mental patients could be transferred there, leaving Lima State Hospital for the exclusive use of penal mental patients.

Legislators at the governor's four and one half hour conference included state Sens. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Roscoe R. Walcutt (R-Franklin), president pro tem of the senate, and state Rep. Gordon Renner (R-Hamilton), speaker of the house, and William Saxbe (R-Champaign), speaker pro tem.

Largest item on the program is $5 million earmarked for immediate construction of a 800-man unit at Marion.

The legislature also will be asked to provide $725,000 for a 150-prisoner dormitory at London, $250,000 for quarters for 150 inmates at Lebanon Honor Camp, $175,000 for a 150-prisoner addition at Roseville, $275,000 to rebuild the laundry wrecked by Ohio Pen rioters, and $625,000 to purchase land now leased from the federal government at Marion.

The non-penal hospital would cost $1,400,000.

The new legislature will meet Jan. 5, 1953, and Lausche hinted that while the assembly leaders would be satisfied to wait until then he might not.

Judge Finds Himself Not Guilty In Trial

DAYTON, Tenn., Nov. 13—(AP)—An investigation has been scheduled in connection with a verdict of innocent which Judge Harold Duncan gave himself and five others on gaming charges.

The investigation was ordered yesterday by Circuit Judge Alan S. Kelly of South Pittsburgh, Tenn., who said he also had revoked an order by Duncan to return 21 slot machines to the owners.

Sheriff Mack Thurman of Rhea County reported Wednesday that Duncan was arrested at a poker game by his chief deputy when the deputy was sent to get a warrant for three men charged in the slot machine seizure.

Duncan had been seen at the game earlier, Thurman said. The judge said he was "only told to come in" and was not arrested. He admitted he signed a $250 appearance bond.

"I presided at the hearing and charges against all six cited, including myself, were dismissed. The other five testified they were not playing poker but were playing rummy. They also said I was not playing," he added.

Thurman said he testified he saw all the defendants playing.

Humphrey Urges Democrats To Invite Morse To Caucus

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 — (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said Thursday Democratic senators should welcome Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon into their party caucus if he wants to come.

Morse, turning against President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower during the presidential campaign quit the Republican Party to support Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic nominee, and declared himself an independent.

Whether Republican senators will take reprisals against Morse in the new senate convening Jan 3, possibly depriving him of his present choice committee assignments is uncertain. Morse now holds places on the Armed Services and Labor Committees.

Humphrey, a leader of the "New Deal-Fair Deal" wing of the Democratic Party, told a reporter the Democrats should throw open the door to Morse.

On the other hand, Humphrey said that Democratic senators who "turn their backs on the national party ticket also ought to receive their reward"—in less preferential treatment.

THE MATTER of reprisals against Democrats who "supported the opposition" should be considered in connection with committee assignments, Humphrey said, at the caucus of Democratic senators early next year.

In a separate interview, Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo), said anyone who used the Democratic Party to get nominated and then support the Republicans "doesn't belong in the Democratic caucus."

Neither Hunt nor Humphrey called any names.

Senator-elect Price Daniel of Texas, a Democrat who had Republican endorsement, campaigned openly for Eisenhower.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Virginia Democratic leader, stopped short of urging Eisenhower's election but he disavowed the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.

24-Year-Old Driver Dies In Crash Here

A 24-year-old Chillicothe motorist was killed late Wednesday when his auto went out of control on a sharp curve on Route 104 and overturned in a field.

He was James Donald Lott of 128 North Watt street in Chillicothe, who had been driving south on the highway at the time of the crash.

The fatal accident happened at about 10 p. m. Wednesday about 10 miles northwest of Circleville at the farm of County Commissioner John Keller.

Deputy Carl Radcliff said the Lott car failed to negotiate a treacherous curve at the Keller farm. The auto plunged into Keller's field and overturned, pinning the driver to the ground.

DR. RAY Carroll, serving as acting coroner on the case, said death was caused by a crushed chest. He said death was immediate.

The exact location of Wednesday's fatal accident was the scene earlier this week of a truck accident, in which more than 12 tons of potatoes were spilled into the Keller field.

Grandma Bandit Has Struck Again

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13 — (AP)—Grandma has struck again.

She got $1,212 in a Wilshire Boulevard holdup Oct. 17, and Wednesday she held up the Union Bank and Trust Company on South Hill street, getting $2,000. The gray-haired woman of about 60 handed June North, 23-year-old teller, a note reading: "Act natural. There are three guns on you. Give me all your money and give me three minutes to get away."

Bridges Sees No Tax Cut In 1953

CLEVELAND, Nv. 13 — (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH), ranking minority member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, says tax reductions are not likely before 1954.

He said the new Republican Congress should be able to balance the budget next year, but tax cuts will not come until the following year.

Vote Expenses Are Listed By 8 Candidates

Eight candidates who sought local offices in the Nov. 4 election have filed their expense accounts with the Pickaway County board of elections.

Seven other candidates who also sought office are required to file accounts prior to 6:30 p. m. Friday, deadline for submitting statements.

Of the eight candidates filing to date, largest expense account was listed by William Ammer, successful candidate for the county prosecutor post.

Ammer filed an account showing expenses of $491.50 in his campaign and listing $132.28 in contributions. His was the lone statement showing contributions.

NEXT HIGH on the list of expenses filed was James Mowery, successful candidate for the clerk of courts post. Mowery listed expenses at $330.61.

Lawrence Cupp, who opposed Mowery for the post, filed an expense account of $71.35 for his campaign.

Judge William D. Radcliff, unopposed candidate for reelection as judge of common pleas court, filed an account showing no expenses.

William Goode, reelected to the post of county commissioner, spent $302.44 in his campaign, while Lyman Penn, winning the other commissioner seat, spent $210.16.

Ed Wallace, returned to office as county representative, spent $139.68.

The "Du Pont rumor," a galloping ghost known to virtually every "inside tipster" here for months, has finally come to rest. Du Pont officials have visited the city and given the official announcement on construction plans.

Building work on the big plant south of Circleville "will start as soon as the weather breaks in the Spring."

Few projects in this rumor-loving generation have given the community such a consistent case of enthusiastic jitters.

DEPENDING upon where you listened in recent months there was "positive information" to the effect that:

1. Du Pont was going to "start pouring concrete" immediately after the year-end holidays.

2. Du Pont was going to do nothing of the kind. The firm was going to wait until the Pike County atomic energy plant was built and then try to fit into the pattern.

3. Du Pont had thrown in the sponge when the Pike County deal was announced. The project had been junked, discarded, thrown out the window and turned in on a new one somewhere north of Green Bay, Wis.

Du Pont officials, who came here from the firm's main offices in Wilmington, Del., and the company's Buffalo plant, were no little amused at many of the unfounded reports spun out of pure dreams on their intentions.

At the same time they emphasized the company has always been willing to disclose the status of plans for Circleville and frequently issued statements in an effort to shoot down rumors as fast as they appeared.

But often they were flying too thick, too high and—like as not—in a formation that proved too tough for the ack-ack.

"UP UNTIL a day or two ago," a spokesman for the visiting group said, "the project was still going through the mill. The minute it was cleared, we prepared to give Circleville our first announcement on it."

The firm's representatives pointed out plans for some time have been moving through Du Pont's own channels; that is, being studied, revised and approved by the company's own experts and various departments. Many of the local dopesters however, had the ghost out of Du Pont and running wild over the meadows south of the city long ago.

Du Pont's last statement to The Herald prior to the announcement on construction plans was made Aug. 27. At that time, the company said the local project was coming along steadily and high hopes were held "for early in 1953" as far as the building program was concerned.

At that time, the company explained full details could not yet be released for fear of disappointing the community. Even now, officials stress, there's much to be accomplished before the plant can get into full production in 1955.

Only a few days prior to the statement last Fall, however, it was said Du Pont officials had been studying housing facilities in Chillicothe and had conferred with the chamber of commerce in that city.

"How that rumor ever started we certainly don't know," one of the visiting officials said here. "The only possible explanation would seem to be that one of our men, passing through or working in Chillicothe on some other Du Pont matter, happened to ask a question or two just for the sake of casual information."

OFFICIALS agreed that any study on housing facilities, in connection with the Circleville plant would be premature, even at this stage of the project's schedule.

They also made clear that the local plant will have no direct connection with Pike County's atomic energy development.

However, one of the few rumors

Roks Report Reds Use Gas Shells In War

Skimpy Reports Say Artillery Barrage Used In Sniper Hill

SEOUL, Nov. 14—(AP)—(Friday)—South Korean troops, driven from Sniper Ridge early Friday, charged Chinese Communist artillery fired gas shells into their positions along the central front.

The report was without further confirmation.

Members of a Rok company on the ridge were quoted by a Korean division headquarters as saying that after the shells landed they could not breath.

There was no immediate report as to whether the gas brought any deaths.

Late Thursday, U. S. warplanes poured flaming jellied gasoline, bombs and machinegun fire on entrenched Reds in the Sniper Ridge-Triangle Hill area.

Victorious South Korean infantrymen, meanwhile, mopped up Red remnants around Pinpoint Hill, dominant height on bloodsoaked Sniper. The Republic of Korea (Rok) troops recaptured Pinpoint Wednesday in a heroic artillery-supported charge.

Elsewhere along the 155 - mile battleline, action was confined to patrol skirmishes. No further Chinese attacks were reported on Pinpoint.

But Chinese Communists were still dug in the Yoke, a maze of tunnels and caves at the northern end of Sniper that has been the key to firm control of that ridge.

It was from those caverns that the Reds spewed reinforcements Tuesday, when they drove the South Koreans off Pinpoint. Wednesday's Rok charge, successful in regaining Pinpoint for the 14th time in the 31-day battle for the Kumhwa Ridges, failed to dislodge the Communists from the Yoke.

She Teach 'Em Too Thoroughly?

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 13—(AP)—Mrs. Mabel White told her elementary school class to be quiet while she was out of the room Wednesday. The pupils obeyed perfectly.

Not one let out a peep when a strange man walked in and said to them: 'You children must be awfully good for the teacher not to be here."

And there still wasn't a sound from the pupils when he opened the door of a corner cabinet, stole the teacher's purse containing $7 and departed.

Aides Expect Ike To Avoid Any Commitment To Truman

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 13 — (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower reportedly will steer clear of any policy commitments to President Truman when they confer next week.

Eisenhower associates say his role at the conference will be mainly that of a listener, although they emphasized that he agrees with the President that the session will amount to a demonstration of American unity.

The White House announced Wednesday that the Eisenhower-Truman meeting has been set for 2 p. m. (EST) Tuesday.

In proposing the meeting last week, the President said it would help achieve an orderly transition from the old administration to the new. He mentioned a need for discussion of world problems.

Eisenhower replied that he shared Truman's hope "that we may present to the world an American unity in basic issues."

OVER THE WEEKEND, the President-elect's headquarters put out a statement which said in effect that any pre-inauguration conferences with Truman administration officials would in no way bind the President-elect as to Republican policy.

The statement was intended to make it clear, the general's associates said, that any policy decisions before inauguration day, Jan. 20, would be the responsibility of the out-going administration.

Eisenhower reportedly feels strongly that it would be a mistake for him to deal in any other way at Tuesday's meeting, in either the international or the domestic fields.

Some observers see a definite attempt by Eisenhower to disassociate himself from an administration which, during the campaign, he condemned as a failure in both the international and domestic fields.

It was recalled that Franklin D. Roosevelt followed the same pattern in ignoring his defeated foe, Herbert Hoover.

Correspondents recall that FDR believed that he could not afford to work too closely with the defeated GOP President because, he argued, the "people have lost confidence in anything Hoover says or does."

GOP congressional leaders will be among those on Eisenhower's calling list when he returns to his New York headquarters next week.

Aides said the President-elect wants to talk over the Korean problem with Dewey, and possibly some Congress members, before he confers with Truman. Dewey, who visited the Korean battlefront in 1951, has been mentioned as a candidate for Secretary of State.

Eisenhower pledged during the campaign that if elected he would go to Korea in an effort to find some way to an honorable peace.

Senator Seeks Peckerwood Dressing Data

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—(AP)—Got a good recipe for peckerwood dressing? Send it to Sen. Long (D-La); he needs it.

In the recent election campaign Long, a Stevenson supporter, said in a talk that if the Republicans were returned to power the country would be back on a diet of "fried rabbit and peckerwood dressing."

Well, as might be expected, he's had several letters asking for the recipe. Unfortunately, he doesn't have one.

"It's an expression I picked up from an old timer down in Louisiana," he explained.

"Yeah," said Bruce Tucker, his administrative aide. "Sawdust and seasoning."

The dictionary says peckerwood is a woodpecker.

Turkey To Cost Same As In '51

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—(AP)—Your Thanksgiving turkey is going to cost you just about the same as it did last year.

That's the word from Ohio Poultry Industries holding its fifth annual conference here. Average turkey price last year was 85 cents a pound. Ducks, chicken and geese will also be in good supply.

Envoy Charges Stalin Doesn't Want A Truce

India Said Preparing Plan To Break Knotty Prisoner Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 13—(AP)—Nationalist China's foreign minister, George K. C. Yeh, charged here Thursday that "Stalin and his Communist stooges do not really want a truce" in Korea and called on the UN to declare Communism a threat to the world's peace and security.

Making his country's major policy address to the UN's 60-nation General Assembly, Yeh said the Chinese Reds have suffered such huge casualties that the Peiping government does not dare to face its people "empty-handed."

Although it is commonly assumed that only the question of sending home prisoners is holding up a truce, Yeh declared, the fundamental problem is that the Reds do not want a truce unless it will "solidify and strengthen the ranks of world Communism."

Yeh pointed out that some delegations have sought to solve the repatriation problem through transfer of prisoners to the care of neutral countries. But, he said, this might turn out to be only a delayed manner of forcibly sending home those Communist prisoners who have said they don't want to go.

THE COMMUNISTS, Yeh said, could be expected to put "direct and indirect pressure" on the prisoners once they were temporarily in their neutral refuges.

Meanwhile, in New Delhi, India, authoritative sources say that the Indian government is working out a new Korean truce proposal providing for the screening of prisoners by neutral nations and voluntary repatriation of the POWs.

Under the new Indian plan, the UN would agree in principle that all prisoners should be sent home in keeping with the Communist interpretation of the spirit of the Geneva Convention.

However Red China and North Korea in turn would agree, under the plan, that no prisoner actually would be sent home unless the screening showed he wanted to go.

The Indian plan envisages Communist admission that prisoners should not be forced to return home against their will and agreement to abide by the screening verdict.

Scientists Study Gulf's Red Tide

FT. MYERS, Fla., Nov. 13—(AP)—Scientists are setting out to determine if the acres of dead fish seen floating in the gulf of Mexico the last few days are caused by the dread red tide.

Reports of dead fish are similar to those in 1947 when the red tide killed tons of fish along the Forida west coast. The red tide is a tiny marine organism known as dinoflagellate. Some scientists say these organisms kill fish by entering the gills and strangling them; others say they do it with poison.

A 24-year-old Chillicothe motorist was killed late Wednesday when his auto went out of control on a sharp curve on Route 104 and overturned in a field.

He was James Donald Lott of 128 North Watt street in Chillicothe, who had been driving south on the highway at the time of the crash.

The fatal accident happened at about 10 p. m. Wednesday about 10 miles northwest of Circleville at the farm of County Commissioner John Keller.

Deputy Carl Radcliff said the Lott car failed to negotiate a treacherous curve at the Keller farm. The auto plunged into Keller's field and overturned, pinning the driver to the ground.

DR. RAY Carroll, serving as acting coroner on the case, said death was caused by a crushed chest. He said death was immediate.

The exact location of Wednesday's fatal accident was the scene earlier this week of a truck accident, in which more than 12 tons of potatoes were spilled into the Keller field.

Grandma Bandit Has Struck Again

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13 — (AP)—Grandma has struck again.

She got $1,212 in a Wilshire Boulevard holdup Oct. 17, and Wednesday she held up the Union Bank and Trust Company on South Hill street, getting $2,000. The gray-haired woman of about 60 handed June North, 23-year-old teller, a note reading: "Act natural. There are three guns on you. Give me all your money and give me three minutes to get away."

Bridges Sees No Tax Cut In 1953

CLEVELAND, Nv. 13 — (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH), ranking minority member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, says tax reductions are not likely before 1954.

He said the new Republican Congress should be able to balance the budget next year, but tax cuts will not come until the following year.

Vote Expenses Are Listed By 8 Candidates

Eight candidates who sought local offices in the Nov. 4 election have filed their expense accounts with the Pickaway County board of elections.

Seven other candidates who also sought office are required to file accounts prior to 6:30 p. m. Friday, deadline for submitting statements.

Of the eight candidates filing to date, largest expense account was listed by William Ammer, successful candidate for the county prosecutor post.

Ammer filed an account showing expenses of $491.50 in his campaign and listing $132.28 in contributions. His was the lone statement showing contributions.

NEXT HIGH on the list of expenses filed was James Mowery, successful candidate for the clerk of courts post. Mowery listed expenses at $330.61.

Lawrence Cupp, who opposed Mowery for the post, filed an expense account of $71.35 for his campaign.

Judge William D. Radcliff, unopposed candidate for reelection as judge of common pleas court, filed an account showing no expenses.

William Goode, reelected to the post of county commissioner, spent $302.44 in his campaign, while Lyman Penn, winning the other commissioner seat, spent $210.16.

Ed Wallace, returned to office as county representative, spent $139.68.

Nationalists Ask UN Label Communism Peace Threat

The "Du Pont rumor," a galloping ghost known to virtually every "inside tipster" here for months, has finally come to rest. Du Pont officials have visited the city and given the official announcement on construction plans.

Building work on the big plant south of Circleville "will start as soon as the weather breaks in the Spring."

Few projects in this rumor-loving generation have given the community such a consistent case of enthusiastic jitters.

DEPENDING upon where you listened in recent months there was "positive information" to the effect that:

1. Du Pont was going to "start pouring concrete" immediately after the year-end holidays.

2. Du Pont was going to do nothing of the kind. The firm was going to wait until the Pike County atomic energy plant was built and then try to fit into the pattern.

3. Du Pont had thrown in the sponge when the Pike County deal was announced. The project had been junked, discarded, thrown out the window and turned in on a new one somewhere north of Green Bay, Wis.

Du Pont officials, who came here from the firm's main offices in Wilmington, Del., and the company's Buffalo plant, were no little amused at many of the unfounded reports spun out of pure dreams on their intentions.

At the same time they emphasized the company has always been willing to disclose the status of plans for Circleville and frequently issued statements in an effort to shoot down rumors as fast as they appeared.

But often they were flying too thick, too high and—like as not—in a formation that proved too tough for the ack-ack.

"UP UNTIL a day or two ago," a spokesman for the visiting group said, "the project was still going through the mill. The minute it was cleared, we prepared to give Circleville our first announcement on it."

The firm's representatives pointed out plans for some time have been moving through Du Pont's own channels; that is, being studied, revised and approved by the company's own experts and various departments. Many of the local dopesters however, had the ghost out of Du Pont and running wild over the meadows south of the city long ago.

Du Pont's last statement to The Herald prior to the announcement on construction plans was made Aug. 27. At that time, the company said the local project was coming along steadily and high hopes were held "for early in 1953" as far as the building program was concerned.

At that time, the company explained full details could not yet be released for fear of disappointing the community. Even now, officials stress, there's much to be accomplished before the plant can get into full production in 1955.

Only a few days prior to the statement last Fall, however, it was said Du Pont officials had been studying housing facilities in Chillicothe and had conferred with the chamber of commerce in that city.

"How that rumor ever started we certainly don't know," one of the visiting officials said here. "The only possible explanation would seem to be that one of our men, passing through or working in Chillicothe on some other Du Pont matter, happened to ask a question or two just for the sake of casual information."

OFFICIALS agreed that any study on housing facilities, in connection with the Circleville plant would be premature, even at this stage of the project's schedule.

They also made clear that the local plant will have no direct connection with Pike County's atomic energy development.

However, one of the few rumors

Roks Report Reds Use Gas Shells In War

Skimpy Reports Say Artillery Barrage Used In Sniper Hill

SEOUL, Nov. 14—(AP)—(Friday)—South Korean troops, driven from Sniper Ridge early Friday, charged Chinese Communist artillery fired gas shells into their positions along the central front.

The report was without further confirmation.

Members of a Rok company on the ridge were quoted by a Korean division headquarters as saying that after the shells landed they could not breath.

There was no immediate report as to whether the gas brought any deaths.

Late Thursday, U. S. warplanes poured flaming jellied gasoline, bombs and machinegun fire on entrenched Reds in the Sniper Ridge-Triangle Hill area.

Victorious South Korean infantrymen, meanwhile, mopped up Red remnants around Pinpoint Hill, dominant height on bloodsoaked Sniper. The Republic of Korea (Rok) troops recaptured Pinpoint Wednesday in a heroic artillery-supported charge.

Elsewhere along the 155 - mile battleline, action was confined to patrol skirmishes. No further Chinese attacks were reported on Pinpoint.

But Chinese Communists were still dug in the Yoke, a maze of tunnels and caves at the northern end of Sniper that has been the key to firm control of that ridge.

It was from those caverns that the Reds spewed reinforcements Tuesday, when they drove the South Koreans off Pinpoint. Wednesday's Rok charge, successful in regaining Pinpoint for the 14th time in the 31-day battle for the Kumhwa Ridges, failed to dislodge the Communists from the Yoke.

She Teach 'Em Too Thoroughly?

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 13—(AP)—Mrs. Mabel White told her elementary school class to be quiet while she was out of the room Wednesday. The pupils obeyed perfectly.

Not one let out a peep when a strange man walked in and said to them: "You children must be awfully good for the teacher not to be here."

And there still wasn't a sound from the pupils when he opened the door of a corner cabinet, stole the teacher's purse containing $7 and departed.

Aides Expect Ike To Avoid Any Commitment To Truman

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 13 — (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower reportedly will steer clear of any policy commitments to President Truman when they confer next week.

Eisenhower associates say his role at the conference will be mainly that of a listener, although they emphasized that he agrees with the President that the session will amount to a demonstration of American unity.

The White House announced Wednesday that the Eisenhower-Truman meeting has been set for 2 p. m. (EST) Tuesday.

In proposing the meeting last week, the President said it would help achieve an orderly transition from the old administration to the new. He mentioned a need for discussion of world problems.

Eisenhower replied that he shared Truman's hope "that we may present to the world an American unity in basic issues."

OVER THE WEEKEND, the President-elect's headquarters put out a statement which said in effect that any pre-inauguration conferences with Truman administration officials would in no way bind the President-elect as to Republican policy.

The statement was intended to make it clear, the general's associates said, that any policy decisions before inauguration day, Jan. 20, would be the responsibility of the out-going administration.

Eisenhower reportedly feels strongly that it would be a mistake for him to deal in any other way at Tuesday's meeting, in either the international or the domestic fields.

Some observers see a definite attempt by Eisenhower to disassociate himself from an administration which, during the campaign, he condemned as a failure in both the international and domestic fields.

It was recalled that Franklin D. Roosevelt followed the same pattern in ignoring his defeated foe, Herbert Hoover.

Correspondents recall that FDR believed that he could not afford to work too closely with the defeated GOP President because, he argued, the "people have lost confidence in anything Hoover says or does."

GOP congressional leaders will be among those on Eisenhower's calling list when he returns to his New York headquarters next week.

Aides said the President-elect wants to talk over the Korean problem with Dewey, and possibly some Congress members, before he confers with Truman. Dewey, who visited the Korean battlefront in 1951, has been mentioned as a candidate for Secretary of State.

Eisenhower pledged during the campaign that if elected he would go to Korea in an effort to find some way to an honorable peace.

Senator Seeks Peckerwood Dressing Data

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—(AP)—Got a good recipe for peckerwood dressing? Send it to Sen. Long (D-La); he needs it.

In the recent election campaign Long, a Stevenson supporter, said in a talk that if the Republicans were returned to power the country would be back on a diet of "fried rabbit and peckerwood dressing."

Well, as might be expected, he's had several letters asking for the recipe. Unfortunately, he doesn't have one.

"It's an expression I picked up from an old timer down in Louisiana," he explained.

"Yeah," said Bruce Tucker, his administrative aide. "Sawdust and seasoning."

The dictionary says peckerwood is a woodpecker.

Turkey To Cost Same As In '51

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—(AP)—Your Thanksgiving turkey is going to cost you just about the same as it did last year.

That's the word from Ohio Poultry Industries holding its fifth annual conference here. Average turkey price last year was 85 cents a pound. Ducks, chicken and geese will also be in good supply.

Envoy Charges Stalin Doesn't Want A Truce

India Said Preparing Plan To Break Knotty Prisoner Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 13—(AP)—Nationalist China's foreign minister, George K. C. Yeh, charged here Thursday that "Stalin and his Communist stooges do not really want a truce" in Korea and called on the UN to declare Communism a threat to the world's peace and security.

Making his country's major policy address to the UN's 60-nation General Assembly, Yeh said the Chinese Reds have suffered such huge casualties that the Peiping government does not dare to face its people "empty-handed."

Although it is commonly assumed that only the question of sending home prisoners is holding up a truce, Yeh declared, the fundamental problem is that the Reds do not want a truce unless it will "solidify and strengthen the ranks of world Communism."

Yeh pointed out that some delegations have sought to solve the repatriation problem through transfer of prisoners to the care of neutral countries. But, he said, this might turn out to be only a delayed manner of forcibly sending home those Communist prisoners who have said they don't want to go.

THE COMMUNISTS, Yeh said, could be expected to put "direct and indirect pressure" on the prisoners once they were temporarily in their neutral refuges.

Meanwhile, in New Delhi, India, authoritative sources say that the Indian government is working out a new Korean truce proposal providing for the screening of prisoners by neutral nations and voluntary repatriation of the POWs.

Under the new Indian plan, the UN would agree in principle that all prisoners should be sent home in keeping with the Communist interpretation of the spirit of the Geneva Convention.

However Red China and North Korea in turn would agree, under the plan, that no prisoner actually would be sent home unless the screening showed he wanted to go.

The Indian plan envisages Communist admission that prisoners should not be forced to return home against their will and agreement to abide by the screening verdict.

Scientists Study Gulf's Red Tide

FT. MYERS, Fla., Nov. 13—(AP)—Scientists are setting out to determine if the acres of dead fish seen floating in the gulf of Mexico the last few days are caused by the dread red tide.

Reports of dead fish are similar to those in 1947 when the red tide killed tons of fish along the Forida west coast. The red tide is a tiny marine organism known as dinoflagellate. Some scientists say these organisms kill fish by entering the gills and strangling them; others say they do it with poison.

Harden Says He's Now Inclined To Favor Route 23 Bypass Idea

Ned Harden, widely regarded as a leader for opposition to the Route 23 bypass proposal, said Thursday he's "more inclined toward the bypass plan now, although I want more information."

Harden said any impression he has been definitely opposed to the re-routing idea is erroneous.

"I was never all-out against it," he said. "All I wanted was to see an opposition group formed to insure fair consideration for and against the plan, and also some detailed information on the state's offer.

"The opposition has been formed and I've obtained a lot of the information I wanted. I still want to know more about the plan and may get it next Tuesday night, but as of now I'm inclined to favor the bypass."

CITY COUNCIL is expected to discuss at least some phases of the bypass problem at its meeting Tuesday night.

Harden said the announcement of plans by the Du Pont Co. to begin building a plant here in the spring is "another argument for the bypass."

Bypass supporters have frequently said the inevitable increase in traffic, caused by developments planned south of Circleville and by the normal gain in highway travel, is one of the strongest points for moving Route 23 from Court street.

"The state wants the bypass," Harden pointed out, "and I'm inclined to go along with them. I figure they know a lot more about it than I do.

"I never wanted to give anybody the impression that I'm an authority on the problem, or a leader one way or the other."

One point clarified last week when state highway department men visited here apparently weighed heavily in forming Harden's present views.

"I'VE FELT from the beginning it would be a mistake to have a cloverleaf highway construction at the point where the bypass would cross Route 22 at the end of West Main street," Harden said.

"However, the highway engineers say they still aren't sure about it, but presently are not planning a cloverleaf at that spot. It helps incline my attitude toward the proposed route around the city."

Meanwhile, conflicting theories on the way tourists plan stops at a bypassed community drew comment from Bob Wolf of Circleville fire department.

Bypass backers have expressed belief the average tourist decides whether he's going to stop at a community before he actually reaches the city limits.

Those opposed to the highway change however, claim a large percentage of drivers don't make up their mind until they're driving through the community.

"Would a bypass detour business away from Circleville?"

"LONG BEFORE I drove up to Battle Creek, Mich.," Wolf said, "I made up my mind to stop and go through at least one of the cereal plants up there.

"However, when I actually reached the city and found myself on a bypass, I began to change my mind and finally gave up the idea."

"I saw a couple of signs directing drivers from the bypass route to the cereal plants, but in one case the plants were a mile and one-half away and in the other they were over two miles from the bypass."

Consequently, Wolf added, he remained on the bypass and drove around the central section of the city.

"This Circleville bypass plan however doesn't mean anything to me one way or the other," Wolf emphasized. "I'm just telling you how the bypass affected me as an average tourist when I got to Battle Creek."

$7,500 Damage Suit Underway

A damage suit seeking $7,500 was in its second day of arguments Wednesday before a jury in Pickaway County common pleas court.

The suit, seeking damages resulting from an auto accident just east of Circleville Dec. 9, 1950, was filed by June Anderson vs. James Lovett.

Tax Forms Coming, But In Disguise

Leon Van Vliet, assistant Circleville postmaster, warned Pickaway County residents Thursday to be on the lookout for their income tax forms, scheduled to go into the delivery routes Saturday.

Van Vliet said "Uncle Sam" this year is sending out the annual "bad news" for taxpayers inside a booklet, instead of in the customary official envelope.

The booklet, of average magazine page size, carries information designed to help the taxpayer make out his returns on 1952 income.

It carries the warning "these are your income tax forms for 1952" in large lettering on the cover.

However, the familiar tax forms are inside the booklet, and Van Vliet predicted many "will think it's just another booklet and toss it into the waste basket, unaware the important forms are enclosed."

UNLESS residents here can be warned to watch for the important booklet, he said, the loss is "sure to run into money." He added widespread confusion seems certain also if a serious number of taxpayers fail to receive their forms on normal schedule.

Van Vliet has already urged that special warnings be issued, at least for this area, in newspapers and through radio and television.

He said it would likely be a good idea to delay distribution of the booklets for awhile to give an opportunity for the warnings to circulate.

Forms for here, however, are already in the postoffice and are set for distribution Saturday.

Each of the booklets carries the address of the taxpayer in addressograph type on its front cover.

Van Vliet also reminded local residents it's time to start planning early Christmas deliveries, especially for troops in Korea.

Court Decision Limits Use Of Farm Trucks

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13 — (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday upheld a lower court decision which, in effect, bans the use of trucks with farm-truck license plates for personal transportation.

The case was started on its way through Ohio's legal channels by Seth Ingersoll of Elyria, who owned a 92-acre farm 17 miles from his home.

He used his truck with a farm license five days a week to go to work at an Elyria factory, in the general direction of his farm. After work he went to the farm in the truck.

He was found guilty of violating the law governing use of farm licenses on trucks by the mayor of Elyria. Common pleas court reversed the mayor's court judgment.

The court of appeals reversed the common pleas court and upheld the mayor.

It said that nowhere in the law, "expressly or by implication," is any authorization given to use a farm truck "for personal transportation to work or, in fact, even from a home in town to an outlying farm."

Farm truck licenses cost less than licenses for commercial trucks. For instance, the license for a 3000-pound farm truck costs $15; for a 3000-pound commercial truck, $31.

Some observers said the decision might raise the question of a farmer using a truck with a farm license can legally transport his family to town for a movie—or to do the weekly shopping.

Announcement By DuPont Ends Jitters

that actually did carry considerable fact was the report the project here was affected by the announcement of plans for Pike County.

"It's true the Pike County project caused us to take another look at our plans for Circleville," an official said, "but we decided to go ahead here."

The reference was to the effect on the labor market in this section of the country when full-scale construction work begins in Pike County.

Walter O. Simon, director of production for Du Pont's film department and head of the group of officials who came here, laughingly told of numerous trips made to Circleville by Du Pont officials during the last year or so. The current project, he said, began "on our books back in February 1951."

"Since then," he went on, "we've had men in Circleville looking over various details from time to time, but apparently they weren't noticed—at least during the earlier months of this year. I think our last group was here in June or thereabouts."

TOLD HOW the community had maintained a long alert for any strangers who might be "Du Pont men," Simon chuckled:

"We found it was easiest just to drop around in ordinary looking clothes—without those brief cases you may have been looking for—and just ask casual questions around town. Circleville's a very friendly town, and we had no trouble at all in getting data we needed.

"License tag identification on the cars? That was easy. Most of the time we found it convenient to use drive-yourself cars when we got into this area.

"There were, of course, a few cases when people seemed to wonder who we were and what we wanted, but as far as I know there was only one guess that probably could be called wild.

"That one was by a fellow who thought we were checking pollution in the Scioto river! He spotted us looking over the Du Pont property and decided we were going to clean up the stream.

"In fact, he said it was about time somebody did something about it—and he was glad we were on hand for a first-hand investigation!"

'Damn Yankee' Returns Home After Threats

TUPELO, Miss., Nov. 13 — (AP)—Newell Anderson and his pretty wife were on their way back to their native North Dakota Thursday because, the 26-year-old newsman said, he had been warned to leave here because he is a "damn Yankee."

The couple started driving to Fargo, N. D., late Wednesday about one hour ahead of the ultimatum set by two hooded men after they roughed up Anderson on a wild automobile ride Monday night.

"We don't like foreigners coming in her and you'd better get out of town," the men told Anderson.

Anderson, who had been circulating manager of the Tupelo Journal for six weeks, said he had received anonymous telephone threats for two weeks.

Mayor George Maynard said that 'the business of him (Anderson) being a 'damn Yankee' had nothing to do with his leaving. There is something more behind it."

Maynard and other civic leaders in this Northeast Mississippi town of 15,000 said they would get the true facts of the case "in order to remove the unjustified black eye against Tupelo and the South."

Anderson said he and his wife had been offered around-the-clock police protection for 30 days if they decided to stay.

"We got to thinking about what would happen after those 30 days and decided to leave," he added.

Mrs. Anderson, who is expecting their first child next April, said, "besides, I couldn't go up to town to shop without a patrolman going along."

Jackson Speech Class Has Play

A three-act comedy play entitled "Huckleberry Finn" was presented Wednesday night in Jackson high school auditorium by the school's speech class.

The play, originating only as a class project, will be shown again in the school auditorium Dec. 8.

Best Supports Warnings On Trash Burning

Pickaway County Agent Larry Best joined Fire Chief Talmer Wise Thursday in continuing a drive against careless fires which frequently spread out of control and cause serious loss.

"In recent weeks, Chief Wise has issued repeated warnings against starting unnecessary fires anywhere in the county because of the very dry condition of the countryside," Best said. "Yet, people still burn leaves, grass, corn stalks and other good organic material.

"With everything kindling-dry, most anything will burn that has half a chance. Fences, buildings and crops are almost certain targets for fires now.

"People are sure they are only going to burn trash, but too many times, especially now, fires get out of hand and burn valuable property.

"BURNING trash has always been one of the most thoughtless, expensive and wasteful habits of man. Leaves, weeds, dead grass and corn stalks and similar so-called trash is valuable food and feed-producing material, if used in the right way. Once burned, it is destroyed forever.

"The productive ability of soil is based upon its organic matter content to a large degree. The organic matter content of most Pickaway County soil is about 33 percent less than it was in 1812.

"All so-called trash that is burned is potential organic matter, when incorporated in the soil."

Bricker Asks About Security In 'H-Tests'

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—(AP)—U. S. Sen. John Bricker (R-O) wants to know whether the mid-Pacific atomic tests, from which have brought unofficial reports of what some claim was the world's first H-bomb explosion, needed tight secrecy rules.

Bricker, a member of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, said:

"I will want an explanation of whether the tight security secrecy was necessary—and, if so, whether these anonymous reported eyewitness accounts indicate that security was not properly enforced.

"All these published accounts may indicate that someone slipped a cog on enforcing security regulations."

Eyewitness accounts of the current tests at Eniwetok Atoll, mostly from sailors aboard task force ships, have been widely published in the nation's press recently.

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Pentagon, meanwhile, have maintained a tight-lipped silence. The AEC Wednesday said it planned a report, probably soon.

An Army spokesman at Fort Shafter in Hawaii said he knew of no mail censorship at the test grounds. He said the commander of the tests, Maj. Gen. P. W. Clarkson, had censorship authority but may have put his men "on their honor."

Phil Murray Buried Near Coal Fields

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 13 — (AP)—Philip Murray, who won the title of labor's statesman while bringing the CIO to its greatest strength, went to his final resting place Thursday near the soft coal fields where he began his life's work.

The funeral of the CIO president brought labor leaders from every section of the country into this industrial stronghold to pay their final respects to the one-time immigrant boy who became the friend of U. S. Presidents.

Murray's death Sunday in a San Francisco hotel caused a delay in the CIO's plans to open its 14th constitutional convention in Los Angeles next Monday.

Funeral services for Murray were conducted by a boyhood friend, Msgr. Henry A. Carlin, vicar-general of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic diocese. Hundreds attended the solemn requiem mass in St. Pauls Cathedral.

Long files of saddened friends, admirers and followers trailed slowly past Murray's bier Wednesday in a suburban funeral home.

CIO vice presidents who conferred with Allan S. Haywood, CIO executive vice president, here Wednesday decided to delay the start of the convention until Monday, Dec. 1 and move it from Los Angeles to Atlantic City.

New Sleep Pill Wakes You Up

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13 — (AP)—There's a new sleeping pill on the market that knocks you out, keeps you out for eight hours, and then wakes you up.

The pill with the built-in alarm clock feature has three layers of different drugs. The first layer is nembutal, which induces sleep; the second, butabarbital sodium, which maintains it, and the core is dexedrine, which rings the bell in your brain after eight hours.

11 Feared Killed

SHELTON, Wash., Nov. 13—(AP)—A Navy four-engine Privateer plane crashed on an Olympic Peninsula hillside Wednesday night, probably killing all 11 men aboard.

Harden Says He's Now Inclined To Favor Route 23 Bypass Idea

Ned Harden, widely regarded as a leader for opposition to the Route 23 bypass proposal, said Thursday he's "more inclined toward the bypass plan now, although I want more information."

Harden said any impression he has been definitely opposed to the re-routing idea is erroneous.

"I was never all-out against it," he said. "All I wanted was to see an opposition group formed to insure fair consideration for and against the plan, and also some detailed information on the state's offer.

"The opposition has been formed and I've obtained a lot of the information I wanted. I still want to know more about the plan and may get it next Tuesday night, but as of now I'm inclined to favor the bypass."

CITY COUNCIL is expected to discuss at least some phases of the bypass problem at its meeting Tuesday night.

Harden said the announcement of plans by the Du Pont Co. to begin building a plant here in the spring is "another argument for the bypass."

Bypass supporters have frequently said the inevitable increase in traffic, caused by developments planned south of Circleville and by the normal gain in highway travel, is one of the strongest points for moving Route 23 from Court street.

"The state wants the bypass," Harden pointed out, "and I'm inclined to go along with them. I figure they know a lot more about it than I do.

"I never wanted to give anybody the impression that I'm an authority on the problem, or a leader one way or the other."

One point clarified last week when state highway department men visited here apparently weighed heavily in forming Harden's present views.

"I'VE FELT from the beginning it would be a mistake to have a cloverleaf highway construction at the point where the bypass would cross Route 22 at the end of West Main street," Harden said.

"However, the highway engineers say they still aren't sure about it, but presently are not planning a cloverleaf at that spot. It helps incline my attitude toward the proposed route around the city."

Meanwhile, conflicting theories on the way tourists plan stops at a bypassed community drew comment from Bob Wolf of Circleville fire department.

Bypass backers have expressed belief the average tourist decides whether he's going to stop at a community before he actually reaches the city limits.

Those opposed to the highway change however, claim a large percentage of drivers don't make up their mind until they're driving through the community.

"Would a bypass detour business away from Circleville?"

"LONG BEFORE I drove up to Battle Creek, Mich.," Wolf said, "I made up my mind to stop and go through at least one of the cereal plants up there.

"However, when I actually reached the city and found myself on a bypass, I began to change my mind and finally gave up the idea."

"I saw a couple of signs directing drivers from the bypass route to the cereal plants, but in one case the plants were a mile and one-half away and in the other they were over two miles from the bypass."

Consequently, Wolf added, he remained on the bypass and drove around the central section of the city.

"This Circleville bypass plan however doesn't mean anything to me one way or the other," Wolf emphasized. "I'm just telling you how the bypass affected me as an average tourist when I got to Battle Creek."

$7,500 Damage Suit Underway

A damage suit seeking $7,500 was in its second day of arguments Wednesday before a jury in Pickaway County common pleas court.

The suit, seeking damages resulting from an auto accident just east of Circleville Dec. 9, 1950, was filed by June Anderson vs. James Lovett.

Infant Surgery Claimed 'Easy'

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13 — (AP)—A six-pound baby has a better chance on the operation table than his 40-year-old father.

That comes from one of the nation's leading baby surgeons, Dr. Orvar Swenson of Boston, who says that "a baby is a brand new mechanism. The parts are all in fine working order. The heart is strong. The tolerance to anesthetic is excelent. And babies heal remarkably well. Wouldn't you rather work on a brand new car than try and repair an old wornout jalopy?"

Hillsboro Firebug 'Thrills' At Blaze

HILLSBORO, Nov. 13 — (AP)—William Hottinger Jr., 18, who said he "gets a thrill out of seeing things burn," was bound over to the grand jury Wednesday for setting fire to a woods.

The series of woods fires started Saturday and residents of nearby Elmville worked until daylight Sunday to extinguish them. W. S. Peterson, of the state fire marshal's arson squad, said the youth admitted starting the fires.

Tax Forms Coming, But In Disguise

Leon Van Vliet, assistant Circleville postmaster, warned Pickaway County residents Thursday to be on the lookout for their income tax forms, scheduled to go into the delivery routes Saturday.

Van Vliet said "Uncle Sam" this year is sending out the annual "bad news" for taxpayers inside a booklet, instead of in the customary official envelope.

The booklet, of average magazine page size, carries information designed to help the taxpayer make out his returns on 1952 income.

It carries the warning "these are your income tax forms for 1952" in large lettering on the cover.

However, the familiar tax forms are inside the booklet, and Van Vliet predicted many "will think it's just another booklet and toss it into the waste basket, unaware the important forms are enclosed."

UNLESS residents here can be warned to watch for the important booklet, he said, the loss is "sure to run into money." He added widespread confusion seems certain also if a serious number of taxpayers fail to receive their forms on normal schedule.

Van Vliet has already urged that special warnings be issued, at least for this area, in newspapers and through radio and television.

He said it would likely be a good idea to delay distribution of the booklets for awhile to give an opportunity for the warnings to circulate.

Forms for here, however, are already in the postoffice and are set for distribution Saturday.

Each of the booklets carries the address of the taxpayer in addressograph type on its front cover.

Van Vliet also reminded local residents it's time to start planning early Christmas deliveries, especially for troops in Korea.

Court Decision Limits Use Of Farm Trucks

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13 — (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday upheld a lower court decision which, in effect, bans the use of trucks with farm-truck license plates for personal transportation.

The case was started on its way through Ohio's legal channels by Seth Ingersoll of Elyria, who owned a 92-acre farm 17 miles from his home.

He used his truck with a farm license five days a week to go to work at an Elyria factory, in the general direction of his farm. After work he went to the farm in the truck.

He was found guilty of violating the law governing use of farm licenses on trucks by the mayor of Elyria. Common pleas court reversed the mayor's court judgment.

The court of appeals reversed the common pleas court and upheld the mayor.

It said that nowhere in the law, "expressly or by implication," is any authorization given to use a farm truck "for personal transportation to work or, in fact, even from a home in town to an outlying farm."

Farm truck licenses cost less than licenses for commercial trucks. For instance, the license for a 3000-pound farm truck costs $15; for a 3000-pound commercial truck, $31.

Some observers said the decision might raise the question of a farmer using a truck with a farm license can legally transport his family to town for a movie—or to do the weekly shopping.

that actually did carry considerable fact was the report the project here was affected by the announcement of plans for Pike County.

"It's true the Pike County project caused us to take another look at our plans for Circleville," an official said, "but we decided to go ahead here."

The reference was to the effect on the labor market in this section of the country when full-scale construction work begins in Pike County.

Walter O. Simon, director of production for Du Pont's film department and head of the group of officials who came here, laughingly told of numerous trips made to Circleville by Du Pont officials during the last year or so. The current project, he said, began "on our books back in February 1951."

"Since then," he went on, "we've had men in Circleville looking over various details from time to time, but apparently they weren't noticed—at least during the earlier months of this year. I think our last group was here in June or thereabouts."

TOLD HOW the community had maintained a long alert for any strangers who might be "Du Pont men," Simon chuckled:

"We found it was easiest just to drop around in ordinary looking clothes—without those brief cases you may have been looking for—and just ask casual questions around town. Circleville's a very friendly town, and we had no trouble at all in getting data we needed.

"License tag identification on the cars? That was easy. Most of the time we found it convenient to use drive-yourself cars when we got into this area.

"There were, of course, a few cases when people seemed to wonder who we were and what we wanted, but as far as I know there was only one guess that probably could be called wild.

"That one was by a fellow who thought we were checking pollution in the Scioto river! He spotted us looking over the Du Pont property and decided we were going to clean up the stream.

"In fact, he said it was about time somebody did something about it—and he was glad we were on hand for a first-hand investigation!"

Burial was in California.

'Damn Yankee' Returns Home After Threats

TUPELO, Miss., Nov. 13 — (AP)—Newell Anderson and his pretty wife were on their way back to their native North Dakota Thursday because, the 26-year-old newsman said, he had been warned to leave here because he is a "damn Yankee."

The couple started driving to Fargo, N. D., late Wednesday about one hour ahead of the ultimatum set by two hooded men after they roughed up Anderson on a wild automobile ride Monday night.

"We don't like foreigners coming in her and you'd better get out of town," the men told Anderson.

Anderson, who had been circulating manager of the Tupelo Journal for six weeks, said he had received anonymous telephone threats for two weeks.

Mayor George Maynard said that 'the business of him (Anderson) being a 'damn Yankee' had nothing to do with his leaving. There is something more behind it."

Maynard and other civic leaders in this Northeast Mississippi town of 15,000 said they would get the true facts of the case "in order to remove the unjustified black eye against Tupelo and the South."

Anderson said he and his wife had been offered around-the-clock police protection for 30 days if they decided to stay.

"We got to thinking about what would happen after those 30 days and decided to leave," he added.

Mrs. Anderson, who is expecting their first child next April, said, "besides, I couldn't go up to town to shop without a patrolman going along."

Jackson Speech Class Has Play

A three-act comedy play entitled "Huckleberry Finn" was presented Wednesday night in Jackson high school auditorium by the school's speech class.

The play, originating only as a class project, will be shown again in the school auditorium Dec. 8.

Best Supports Warnings On Trash Burning

Pickaway County Agent Larry Best joined Fire Chief Talmer Wise Thursday in continuing a drive against careless fires which frequently spread out of control and cause serious loss.

"In recent weeks, Chief Wise has issued repeated warnings against starting unnecessary fires anywhere in the county because of the very dry condition of the countryside," Best said. "Yet, people still burn leaves, grass, corn stalks and other good organic material.

"With everything kindling-dry, most anything will burn that has half a chance. Fences, buildings and crops are almost certain targets for fires now.

"People are sure they are only going to burn trash, but too many times, especially now, fires get out of hand and burn valuable property.

"BURNING trash has always been one of the most thoughtless, expensive and wasteful habits of man. Leaves, weeds, dead grass and corn stalks and similar so-called trash is valuable food and feed-producing material, if used in the right way. Once burned, it is destroyed forever.

"The productive ability of soil is based upon its organic matter content to a large degree. The organic matter content of most Pickaway County soil is about 33 percent less than it was in 1812.

"All so-called trash that is burned is potential organic matter, when incorporated in the soil."

Bricker Asks About Security In 'H-Tests'

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—(AP)—U. S. Sen. John Bricker (R-O) wants to know whether the mid-Pacific atomic tests, from which have brought unofficial reports of what some claim was the world's first H-bomb explosion, needed tight secrecy rules.

Bricker, a member of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, said:

"I will want an explanation of whether the tight security secrecy was necessary—and, if so, whether these anonymous reported eyewitness accounts indicate that security was not properly enforced.

"All these published accounts may indicate that someone slipped a cog on enforcing security regulations."

Eyewitness accounts of the current tests at Eniwetok Atoll, mostly from sailors aboard task force ships, have been widely published in the nation's press recently.

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Pentagon, meanwhile, have maintained a tight-lipped silence. The AEC Wednesday said it planned a report, probably soon.

An Army spokesman at Fort Shafter in Hawaii said he knew of no mail censorship at the test grounds. He said the commander of the tests, Maj. Gen. P. W. Clarkson, had censorship authority but may have put his men "on their honor."

Pickaway Court News

COMMON PLEAS COURT

Divorce petition has been filed by Inah Brigner vs. Clarence Brigner Jr., accusing gross neglect of duty, extreme cruelty. Couple has one child. Restraining order issued.

Jury commission to draw for jurors for January term of court at 10 a. m. Dec. 19.

Decree of divorce awarded Marguerite Bangham on cross petition accusing gross neglect, extreme cruelty, from Charles Bangham. Court awards her custody of minor children, $50 per month in alimony and a property settlement.

Phil Murray Buried Near Coal Fields

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 13 — (AP)—Philip Murray, who won the title of labor's statesman while bringing the CIO to its greatest strength, went to his final resting place Thursday near the soft coal fields where he began his life's work.

The funeral of the CIO president brought labor leaders from every section of the country into this industrial stronghold to pay their final respects to the one-time immigrant boy who became the friend of U. S. Presidents.

Murray's death Sunday in a San Francisco hotel caused a delay in the CIO's plans to open its 14th constitutional convention in Los Angeles next Monday.

Funeral services for Murray were conducted by a boyhood friend, Msgr. Henry A. Carlin, vicar-general of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic diocese. Hundreds attended the solemn requiem mass in St. Pauls Cathedral.

Long files of saddened friends, admirers and followers trailed slowly past Murray's bier Wednesday in a suburban funeral home.

CIO vice presidents who conferred with Allan S. Haywood, CIO executive vice president, here Wednesday decided to delay the start of the convention until Monday, Dec. 1 and move it from Los Angeles to Atlantic City.

New Sleep Pill Wakes You Up

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13 — (AP)—There's a new sleeping pill on the market that knocks you out, keeps you out for eight hours, and then wakes you up.

The pill with the built-in alarm clock feature has three layers of different drugs. The first layer is nembutal, which induces sleep; the second, butabarbital sodium, which maintains it, and the core is dexedrine, which rings the bell in your brain after eight hours.

11 Feared Killed

SHELTON, Wash., Nov. 13—(AP)—A Navy four-engine Privateer plane crashed on an Olympic Peninsula hillside Wednesday night, probably killing all 11 men aboard.

All-Out Drive Against Rats Begins In Pickaway County

An organized campaign in Pickaway County against rats, notorious disease carriers and spreaders of all types of filth, moves up into the firing line positions this week with an appeal for full public participation.

Pickaway County agricultural extension office is conducting the drive in cooperation with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Don Herr, associate county agent, is directiong the campaign for the county.

Plans for the poison blitz against rats all over the county have been coordinated for maximum results. Farmers and city residents are being asked to order rat bait now and to place it all on the same day —Dec. 15.

It has been pointed out such coordinated action will make it possible to judge success of the campaign and, by simultaneous steps, crack down on breeding of the rodents.

ON A NATIONAL scale, rats destroy as much feed as 200,000 farmers can produce. Damage done by rats on the average farm each year has been conservatively estimated at $200.

The threat rats carry to public health, both in farm and city areas, has long been known to medical science.

Thirteen places of business throughout the county have been designated as points for the ordering and distribution of bait to be used in the new campaign Orders for bait must be placed before Dec. 5 to insure delivery before Dec. 15 —"B-Day" for the placing of bait.

The bait, ready-mixed Warfarin, comes in one-pound paper packages and will sell at 40 cents a pound.

On farms where a rat is seen occasionally around the buildings, effective control can be obtained with five pounts of the mixture, Herr said. Farms with six or more major buildings that are infested with rats will need about 10 pounds of the bait.

Herr urged Circleville residents to participate in the campaign on their own properties. He said one pound of bait will rid a home of mice, but additional bait will be required if rats are to be controlled.

WARFARIN bait comes in cartons containing five one-pound packages. City residents should order with their neighbor, Herr pointed out, so that orders of at least five pounds can be made under the one name.

Stressing the need for coordinated action, Herr warned:

"One person, by permitting rats to go uncontrolled on his property, will keep the neighborhood infested. Be sure you aren't the person permitting this to happen in your neighborhood. Join the drive and ask your neighbor to join.

Points listed for ordering and distribution of bait are as follows: Harley Moss General Store, Whisler; Elmwood Elevator, Pickaway Township; Richard's Implement, Circleville; West Side Elevator, Circleville; Farm Bureau Co-Op Store, Circleville; Heffner Grain Co., Williamsport; Atlanta Grain Co., Atlanta; Winfough General Store, Five Points; Grabill Store, Darbyville; Eshelman Hill Grain Co., Derby; Lawless Garage, Commercial Point; J. D. Butt General Store, Fox; Ashville Grain Co., Ashville.

Drivers Urged To Get Ready For Winter

"Winter is moving in fast and unless drivers and pedestrians adjust their traffic habits the usual upswing in traffic accidents can be expected."

This warning given by state Highway Patrolman, Bob Greene of Circleville was based on the traffic accident experience of past Novembers, the month consistently showing a sharp increase in traffic fatalities over other months of the year.

"Reduced visibility and slippery roads, are two of winter's traps for thoughtless drivers.

"WE CAN expect the kind of weather responsible for such conditions from now on," Greene warned, "and the wise motorist will protect himself and his fellow citizens by being prepared."

He advised all motorists to check safety equipment on their cars now, emphasizing particularly the following factors: 1) Equalized brakes; 2) Good Tires; 3) Tire Chains; 4) Bright, well-aimed lights; 5) Defrosters; and 6) Heater.

The high accident rate for the month of November can be reduced, Greene said, by being prepared, by driving cautiously and by having a healthy fear for Winter hazards.

Feed The 'Bugs' To Feed Cattle

Feed the "bugs" of rumen organisms along with the steer if you want to increase feed efficiency of beef cattle.

Experts point out the "bugs" are rumen bacteria which convert roughage to energy and body protein. These bacteria work in steer's first stomach or rumen and do the actual job of getting grass and hay in shape for final digestion.

Experiments show that if the bacteria are well fed, the steer's nutritional status is much better.

For example, coarse, mature hay produces fewer pounds of beef because bacteria cannot easily digest it. Likewise, finely ground roughages settle out and pass on through the rumen without being worked over by the bugs.

THE NEED for more research in this field is stressed so that more efficient feeding programs might be set up.

Once the rumen bacteria are completely harnessed, growers can produce more meat at a lower cost to consumers.

CIO Meet Date, Place Changed

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 13—(AP)—The vice presidents of the CIO Wednesday recommended a postponement of the group's 14th annual convention from Monday, Nov. 17 to Monday, Dec. 1 because of the death of CIO President Philip Murray.

The convention had been slated to open next week in Los Angeles. Instead the convention will be held in Atlantic City.

4-H Tractor Clubs Aid In Fuel Economy

Tractor fuel worth $24 million is wasted annually because of poorly adjusted carburetors.

Poor carburetor adjustment can cost the operator $2 every day the tractor is used. Failure to Winterize equipment properly can depreciate a tractor 30 percent in a single year.

These are only a few of the reasons why the 4-H tractor maintenance program, including that of Pickaway County, is one of the nation's fastest growing youth movements.

The program was organized in 1945 in 14 Midwest states. Now tractor clubs are common from coast to coast with a total of 209,564 4-H members and 21,545 farmer-instructors.

The 4-H'ers learn to spot trouble early so a skilled serviceman can prevent a costly breakdown. They also practice safety rules in the field and on public roads. Eight oil companies sponsor the program which is encouraged by agriculture, industry and government to cut the cost of mechanized farm power.

KEY OBJECTIVE of the tractor club member is to learn to adjust a carburetor so the fuel mixture isn't too lean or too rich. The year-round program also trains him to service the air cleaner, cooling and ignition systems and other parts to prevent waste of power.

The three-year course is featured by tractor demonstration contests Club members compete for county, state and national honors. They are judged on their record books as well as reports from leaders and county agents.

But the big prize is increased farm profits resulting from lowered cost of operating tractors—a big item when you consider that the tractor population of the United States has jumped from 1.5 million in 1941 to the present count of over four million.

6 K of P Lodges To Meet Monday

Six Knights of Pythias Lodges will met with the Circleville lodge here at 8 p. m. Monday for an official visit by Past Grand Chancellor Frank A. Wood.

The meeting will be held in Philos lodge in Circleville.

Representatives will be here from lodges in Jeffersonville, Ashville, Amanda, Stoutsville, Mt. Sterling and Harrisburg.

Included in business on the evening's program will be a discussion of the organization's membership drive.

Members of the committee for the drive are Leo S. Schenk, grand chancellor; Evan M. Owen and Kenneth W. Hess. Also assisting in the campaign is Frank Hudson, district deputy.

Ashville Speaking Winners Selected

Winners for Ashville high school have been announced in the Prince of Peace declamation contest, annual competition sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches.

Two winners were picked in Ashville, one in a contest held in the Methodist church and another in competition staged in the Lutheran church.

Robert Bowers, with his topic "There Shall Be Peace," won the Methodist church event. Rosemary Wright was second.

Doris Axe, speaking on "John Doe and World Peace," was judged the winner in the Lutheran church test. Judith Bowers was second.

The two winners will compete sometime in December in a county-wide contest, in Circleville.

All-Out Drive Against Rats Begins In Pickaway County

An organized campaign in Pickaway County against rats, notorious disease carriers and spreaders of all types of filth, moves up into the firing line positions this week with an appeal for full public participation.

Pickaway County agricultural extension office is conducting the drive in cooperation with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Don Herr, associate county agent, is directiong the campaign for the county.

Plans for the poison blitz against rats all over the county have been coordinated for maximum results. Farmers and city residents are being asked to order rat bait now and to place it all on the same day —Dec. 15.

It has been pointed out such coordinated action will make it possible to judge success of the campaign and, by simultaneous steps, crack down on breeding of the rodents.

ON A NATIONAL scale, rats destroy as much feed as 200,000 farmers can produce. Damage done by rats on the average farm each year has been conservatively estimated at $200.

The threat rats carry to public health, both in farm and city areas, has long been known to medical science.

Thirteen places of business throughout the county have been designated as points for the ordering and distribution of bait to be used in the new campaign Orders for bait must be placed before Dec. 5 to insure delivery before Dec. 15 —"B-Day" for the placing of bait.

The bait, ready-mixed Warfarin, comes in one-pound paper packages and will sell at 40 cents a pound.

On farms where a rat is seen occasionally around the buildings, effective control can be obtained with five pounts of the mixture, Herr said. Farms with six or more major buildings that are infested with rats will need about 10 pounds of the bait.

Herr urged Circleville residents to participate in the campaign on their own properties. He said one pound of bait will rid a home of mice, but additional bait will be required if rats are to be controlled.

European Tourists Need Travel Tips--Even The Best Of Wives

By HAL BOYLE

LISBON, Portugal— (AP) —The trouble with foreign travel is that just as you begin to learn something about it you have to start home.

I was thinking about this while standing at the airport here, going through the ritual of clearing customs for the homeward trek. I reached in my topcoat pocket and felt something wet. I pulled it out; it was a bright red washcloth

"I didn't know where else to put it," explained my wife, Frances. "And I just hated to throw it away."

This experience convinced me that people need a few travel tips, even the best of wives.

I set down here what I have learned:

1. Baggage. No matter how often an airline says a passenger is limited to 66 pounds of baggage it never will convince a wife that it's not fooling. For those last minute extras a wife can find no other place for, a wise husband will always carry a spare paper sack in his pocket —and it will always end up full.

The wise husband will also remain aloof in any argument between his wife and an airline official over the question of excess weight. After all, how does he know his wife is wrong? Maybe the airline scale is broken or inaccurate. Anyway, does he have to go on living with the airline or his wife?

2. Soap and cigarets. In Europe today it is no longer possible to trade a bar of soap, a piece of chocolate or a package of cigarets for a genuine $5,000 diamond ring. Take along a few extra bars of soap. Many first class hotels expect you to supply your own. Take along a few extra packs of cigarets as gifts, but don't expect them to overwhelm everybody. There actually are many Europeans who prefer other than American brands.

3. Black market. The average American tourist feels life has cheated him unless he makes a black market deal during his trip abroad. It's very simple to make one of those deals. Just go to the nearest travel agency. Before you can get through the door a shady character will sidle up to you and (a) offer to change your money at a profit, (b) offer to sell you a $15 American fountain pen for $5 and (c) let you have a rare old family cameo brooch.

By the time you get through the door into the travel agency you will find (a) some of the bills he has given you are counterfeit, (b) the fountain pen doesn't work (c) the cameo is a fraud, and (d) the shady character has vanished.

By and large you can get no more than a 10 per cent edge in black market money dealing in Europe, and your money has a cleaner feeling if you just change it at your hotel or bank.

4. Tips. In Europe every bill you get includes a service charge which is supposed to pay the wage of those who serve you. But this satisfies nobody. All who serve you in any way expect an additional small remembrance.

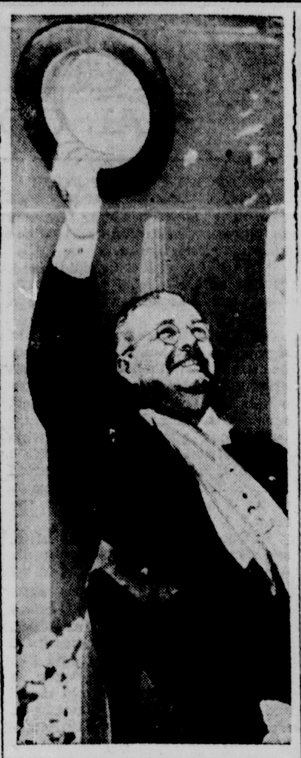

Don't make yourself miserable or ruin your trip worrying about how much you should give or whom you should tip. A simple rule is to tip everybody to whom you have not been formally introduced, but only give them half what you would in America.

Another and even more inexpensive way is simply to open your billfold and hold it out as you pass. Servants' consciences will prevent them from taking as much through avarice as you would give them through ignorance.

5. Customs. Some people are bold enough to clap a piece of rye bread on each end of a live elephant and try to smuggle it through customs as a sandwich.

They take pride in trying to beat the customs man. Many travelers complain bitterly about the long - suffering government agents. But I have always found them willing to share a live and let-live policy. The wisest traveler I ever knew said this is the way to deal with customs:

"Tell them firmly, 'I have nothing to declare — absolutely nothing.' And no matter what they say, just stick to your story. When they get tired of listening to you they will let you pass."

European Tourists Need Travel Tips--Even The Best Of Wives

By HAL BOYLE

LISBON, Portugal— (AP) —The trouble with foreign travel is that just as you begin to learn something about it you have to start home.

I was thinking about this while standing at the airport here, going through the ritual of clearing customs for the homeward trek. I reached in my topcoat pocket and felt something wet. I pulled it out; it was a bright red washcloth

"I didn't know where else to put it," explained my wife, Frances. "And I just hated to throw it away."

This experience convinced me that people need a few travel tips, even the best of wives.

I set down here what I have learned:

1. Baggage. No matter how often an airline says a passenger is limited to 66 pounds of baggage it never will convince a wife that it's not fooling. For those last minute extras a wife can find no other place for, a wise husband will always carry a spare paper sack in his pocket —and it will always end up full.

The wise husband will also remain aloof in any argument between his wife and an airline official over the question of excess weight. After all, does he know his wife is wrong? Maybe the airline scale is broken or inaccurate. Anyway, does he have to go on living with the airline or his wife?

2. Soap and cigarets. In Europe today it is no longer possible to trade a bar of soap, a piece of chocolate or a package of cigarets for a genuine $5,000 diamond ring. Take along a few extra bars of soap. Many first class hotels expect you to supply your own. Take along a few extra packs of cigarets as gifts, but don't expect them to overwhelm everybody. There actually are many Europeans who prefer other than American brands.

3. Black market. The average American tourist feels life has cheated him unless he makes a black market deal during his trip abroad. It's very simple to make one of those deals. Just go to the nearest travel agency. Before you can get through the door a shady character will sidle up to you and (a) offer to change your money at a profit, (b) offer to sell you a $15 American fountain pen for $5 and (c) let you have a rare old family cameo brooch.

By the time you get through the door into the travel agency you will find (a) some of the bills he has given you are counterfeit, (b) the fountain pen doesn't work (c) the cameo is a fraud, and (d) the shady character has vanished.

By and large you can get no more than a 10 per cent edge in black market money dealing in Europe, and your money has a cleaner feeling if you just change it at your hotel or bank.

4. Tips. In Europe every bill you get includes a service charge which is supposed to pay the wage of those who serve you. But this satisfies nobody. All who serve you in any way expect an additional small remembrance.

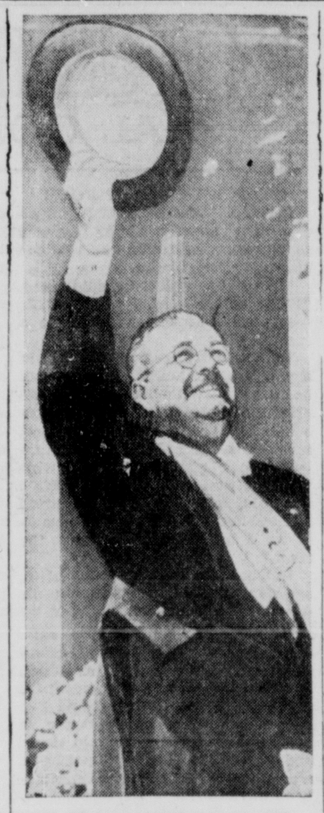

Don't make yourself miserable or ruin your trip worrying about how much you should give or whom you should tip. A simple rule is to tip everybody to whom you have not been formally introduced, but only give them half what you would in America.

Another and even more inexpensive way is simply to open your billfold and hold it out as you pass. Servants' consciences will prevent them from taking as much through avarice as you would give them through ignorance.

5. Customs. Some people are bold enough to clap a piece of rye bread on each end of a live elephant and try to smuggle it through customs as a sandwich.

They take pride in trying to beat the customs man. Many travelers complain bitterly about the long - suffering government agents. But I have always found them willing to share a live and let-live policy. The wisest traveler I ever knew said this is the way to deal with customs:

"Tell them firmly, 'I have nothing to declare — absolutely nothing.' And no matter what they say, just stick to your story. When they get tired of listening to you they will let you pass."

CALL FOR GOOD MEN

GETTING GOOD MEN TO head government departments and bureaus will be one of the top problems of President Eisenhower. In time of war a chief executive need only call and all citizens will answer. But the protracted and seemingly futile war in Korea has resulted in a lowering of the responses.

Yet, as the Hoover Commission said, "The responsibilities of management in the various departments of the executive branch are today so great that danger to the welfare and security of the country, as well as immense financial losses, can result from incompetence on the top executive level."

Good men do not respond, it is maintained, because pay is lower than they can command in private employment, they are subject to smear attacks, their efforts to do a good job are often frustrated by politics, red tape and the supposed inefficiency of government workers. Many hesitate to enter a field not held in high esteem.

Yet the problem of obtaining competent men remains, and it is inseparable from the projects of improving the government and achieving better results with lower expenditures. It is a problem that will not be solved until better pay is provided to put top men in top posts of the government.

WORTH TRYING

GENERAL WINTER IS PAYING his third visit to the Korean battlefront while his colleague, General Stalemate, continues to overstay his welcome at the United Nations. The desolateness of the situation runs so deep that the current report of India's efforts to intercede with Red China for a cease-fire lights but a faint spark of hope.

Since the start of the Korean affair India has cast itself in the role of peacemaker. Unsuccessful before, its diplomatic mission in Peiping is now reported feeling out the Chinese on an unspecified plan to solve the prisoner-of-war issue. Whether these efforts are crowned with success depend basically on whether the Soviets want to resolve the peninsular war, and to date they have given every indication to the contrary.

There is always the long-shot chance that the Chinese Communists may be tired of pulling Soviet chestnuts out of the fire and something may develop from moves of this sort.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

In the United States, Cabinet officers are secretaries and assistants to the President. They hold office at his option. They are elected to no office and have no independent constituencies. They usually are members of the President's party, although he may appoint citizens who are of the opposite party or of no party at all.

President-elect Eisenhower will have a difficult time choosing his Cabinet, because of his newness to political life. With hardly a working majority in either house of Congress, he is politically dependent upon a Republican - Southern Democrat coalition through which he must get appropriations for his various departments. That coalition can make or break his Administration, because they can withhold, reduce, or delay appropriations. Committees of Congress can also hold up confirmations of persons he appoints or can delay such ratifications or hold unpleasant and prolonged hearings in public. Each member of the Cabinet has to be confirmed by the Senate.

Guess-lists, issued by various prophets, of prospective Cabinet officers have most of them coming from the Eastern Seaboard—principally New York. This is politically impossible. The basic strength of his party is still in the Middle West, which cannot be ignored in Cabinet appointments. If New York gets two seats, it may prove one too many. California has the Vice President and therefore more than one Cabinet member from California would be high. The Southern Democrats who deserted party regularity to vote for Eisenhower are entitled to Cabinet recognition. The Taft Republicans, who constitute the largest element in the Republican Party, will have to be recognized.

Geographical appointments are normal to American political life. It is a recognition of the structure of American society based upon our history. We are a federation of 48 sovereign states.

Furthermore, New York is disliked and distrusted in most parts of the United States, the assumption being that it is a city divided between Wall Street plutocrats and Stork Club wisecrackers. Organization Republicans, who have labored in the desert for 20 years, will expect recognition.

The Republican Party consists of three basic elements: 1. The Taft Republicans; 2. The Young Republicans (since 1932); 3. The New Republicans, (those who came into the party with Eisenhower).

Amity was achieved within the party largely through the efforts of Robert A. Taft and Herbert Hoover. It can almost be said that Taft campaigned as hard as Eisenhower did. That was essential, as otherwise a large number of Republicans would not have voted—enough possibly to change the outcome of the election. Herbert Hoover fought the tendency to sabotage Eisenhower from the day Eisenhower was nominated. It can be said that the Republican Party had not been as unified since 1928 as it was in 1952 and that Taft and Hoover achieved that unity for Eisenhower.

The Young Republicans were divided between the Taft and Eisenhower elements. They have had no governmental experi-

Cross Transfusion Of Blood May Be Life-Saving Measure

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IN one of the most dramatic methods of blood transfusion, the donor's organs can take over and carry out necessary processes temporarily, if the patient's organs are badly damaged. This method, known as cross transfusion, has been developed only recently.

People living today have seen life-saving advances in the art of transfusing blood and transplanting various tissues from one person to another.

We all know that blood can easily be transfused directly from person to person. However, before transfusing any blood, we must determine whether it is the same type as that of the patient receiving it.

Many Blood Banks

We can also keep blood in a refrigerator and transfer it to a patient at a later date. There is a blood "bank" in nearly every community in the country, and most hospitals keep a supply of blood on hand.

We are also starting to have bone banks in which bone is refrigerated and stored. This live bone can be used as transplants in certain types of orthopedic surgery and in reconstructing badly mangled limbs.

For a long time doctors have been trying to transfer whole organs, such as a kidney or heart, from one person to another. Practically all these attempts fail, because the transferred organ fails to stay alive in the second person.

By cross transfusion without actually transplanting the organs, the donor's organs for the time being can carry on for the damaged organs in the patient's body. With this method, a special instrument, acting like a pump, continuously exchanges the blood of the donor and the sick person.

In this way the organs of the healthy person can take over the work of the patient's injured organs when they are unable to filter or condition the blood properly. Most healthy organs normally function at only a small percentage of their full capacity. As many as ten quarts of blood an hour can be exchanged between patient and donor.

While the cross transfusion is going on, the donor feels little ill effect because the healthy organs are strong enough to stand a great deal of extra strain.

Exchange transfusion is being used especially in uremia, or kidney poisoning, in which the normal function of the kidneys has been totally destroyed. Waste products can then pile up in the blood, and eventually cause death.

It is also especially helpful in mercury poisoning of the kidney, and is being used in toxemia of pregnancy and high blood pressure as well.

Only the future will tell whether cross transfusion is a new life-saving method for people with badly damaged organs.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. M. X.: Should a baby just home from the hospital have his crib mattress raised at the head, or should it be level?

Answer: Usually, the baby's bed should be level. However, when the baby has a slight cold, it is sometimes advantageous to lower the head portion of the bed in order that the infected secretions can drain out of the nose and throat more easily.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

LOMAX McQUESTION was breathing heavily as he listened to Whirter's wild plan and realized his own helplessness.

"Of all the gall!" he spluttered. "I furnish the boat, I pay the bills—and all that I'm used for is a cat's-paw!"

Whirter shrugged. "Call it that if you like," he acknowledged. "It'll be simpler, with less trouble all around, if you understand the situation. But before you get all riled, let's get the facts straight. I promised you a good profit from this venture, and you'll get it. We'll get gold, lots of gold, in addition to fur. You get your share, exactly as I agreed with you at the start."

McQuestion became thoughtful, as Whirter had known that he would. Then he shook his head.

"It's too wild a notion," he said, almost regretfully. "I wish I could see any way of working it, Mark. It's the biggest, most beautiful scheme I've ever heard of, and I've run across some lallapaloozas in my day. To hold up a gold camp and get away with millions! Yes, it's a great scheme. But completely unworkable."

"We have a loyal crew back of us," Whirter argued. "The Innocents will guide and help when we get there. We'll have the element of surprise when we strike. It can't fail."

"I wouldn't trust these Innocents you speak of as far as I could swim behind the paddle wheel," McQuestion grunted. "You say they're outlaws. They'd be no good."

"They're called outlaws," Whirter said. "So are we. That's a blind. Actually they're patriots. They have a strong organization, with the whole community honeycombed and undermined. Why, even the sheriff is with us—he's the chief of the Innocents! I tell you, it can't fail!"

Unconvinced, McQuestion shook his head. "You've lost your judgment," he said. "But it might stand a chance if the Indians were for us. If we can find a way to win them over, that would change the picture."

"That's what we've got to do," Whirter agreed. "When they understand, they're bound to be for us."

"There are white men among them," McQuestion said, thoughtful now. "That pilot proved that. We might try a flag of truce, let them know we want to be friends, that we have whiskey."

"Better get Rawls to help with that angle," Whirter suggested. "He knows the Indians of this country."

"I'm not too sure that he'll lend himself to such a job," McQuestion demurred.

"Leave that to me," Whirter said.

And, back aboard the Varina, he put it bluntly up to Rawls.

"We have guns and whiskey aboard, Rawls, as you've known all along, and you know why," he said. "We figure it would be better to bribe them to peace, if we can, and get out of here alive. Don't you agree?"

"The mood they're in, I doubt if they'll deal with us, but its an idea, Rawls agreed. "Though even that's risky."

"Well have to make a virtue of necessity, Whirter murmured, and pulled at his chin. "We'll start out with a gift of liquor, to show our good will."

"I'm willing to try and buy that, with whiskey," Rawls admitted. "But I won't agree to giving them guns."

"I'd hesitate also about arming them," Whirter said. A first step is what counted. If that was successful, he'd be in a position to handle affairs his own way.

It was agreed to lower a boat, and to load whiskey into it with great ostentation, then to go ashore under a white flag. McQuestion shivered, but he could see no other choice. The first part of the operation was performed, sure that unseen eyes watched. Then they rowed toward the shore. Under the protective rifles of the crews, they halted some distance from the bank and McQuestion raised his voice.

"We bring whiskey," he said, hopeful that someone could understand. "Whiskey for a gift. We want to parley."

He waited while a minute passed, and the river and the shore seemed empty. Then a reply came back.

"Ugh. White man and Indian talk."

Even with that fundamental agreed upon, it took time. Time for the Indians to sample the contents of the keg and make sure that this was no hoax. A conference between leaders on both sides was agreed upon for the afternoon, a conference at which the white man could unburden himself and the red man would consider his words.

"And if they don't approve of our ideas, they can turn them down and have a new try at killing us," Rawls pointed out. "They don't have anything to lose. All we have to lose is our hair!"

"Meanwhile," Mark Whirter said piously, "it gives us time to consign our dead to the deeps of the river, with proper Christian ceremony."

McQuestion and Rawls went ashore, accompanied by several of the crew. McQuestion was confident now. If the Indians were willing to talk, matters would work out. Since he had gifts for them, it would be to their interest to accept.

Whirter remained aboard the Astrid, the crews keeping out of sight but with guns handy. Once ashore, Rawls was able to confirm his earlier opinion. These were Sioux, just as that war party at the Devil's Spin had been. He pointed this out to McQuestion.

"So long as they're willing to parley, what difference does it make?" McQuestion asked, and Rawls shrugged.

Red Cloud was chief of the Sioux, but apparently he was not in this vicinity. There were lesser chief present to do the talking. They listened gravely while McQuestion explained that they came in a spirit of friendship, bringing firewater for their allies. Rawls interpreted.

"Firewater is good," was the reply. "But we need guns. How about rifles?"

Rawls relayed the question. "If you furnish them guns, count me out," he added bluntly. But McQuestion was given no opportunity to answer. A newcomer arrived, stalking up to join the group, glaring at the white men. Angrily he harangued the others, and it appeared that this was news which had just arrived, but it was full of a grim import. Softly Rawls explained to McQuestion, seated beside him.

"He's telling them that an agreement was made to give them one boat and all the loot on board it, back at the Devil's Spin—and all the scalps of those on that boat!"

Color drained away from McQuestion's florid face, leaving it flaccid. He moistened suddenly dry lips with his tongue, his eyes darting nervously.

"He says there was treachery there on the part of the white men, men in boats such as these," Rawls added softly. And then he hissed a warning: "Sit still!"

But his own scalp was crawling in anticipation. His impulse, like McQuestion's, was to make a dash for the small boat waiting at the shore, but that wouldn't do. Yet to wait was to die, for now the messenger was coolly adding the damning details that it was McQuestion who had made that other agreement. The verdict had already gone against them.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—The battle over private versus public development of the nation's water power and kindred resources will give President-elect Eisenhower his first and most dramatic opportunity to show by positive action his attitude toward further government expansion in this and allied industrial fields.

Under Truman-Chapman philosophy, several proposals now before the courts and Congress would give the Interior Department a national monopoly in building and operating vast hydroelectric systems, and in the transmission of energy. If successful, it would conceivably mean the destruction of federal absorption at near - confiscatory prices of the $25 billion public utility structure, with its millions of bondholders and investors.

More importantly, if this industry could be taken over or forced to sell through the threat of government competition, any other private enterprise would stand in similar jeopardy. Numerous judges, in ruling against Interior's claims, have made this premonitory observation.

Truman showed his sympathy for the Chapman viewpoint when he threatened to build U. S. steel mills several years ago, and again when he insisted that the "inherent powers" of the Presidency justified seizure of these factories.

FEDERAL MONOPOLY—With atomic energy now foreseen feasible for commercial application within five years, the threat of federal monopoly becomes more dangerous. The administration has already tried to sew up this source of industrial generation on the ground that it is too valuable militarily for general use and distribution.

It was because of his knowledge of these generally unknown schemes that Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Electric and Defense Mobilizer, recently urged the sale of the government's $7 billion power system to private interests, or to individuals who would exchange government securities for stocks in these utilities.

In view of the favorable reaction to the Wilson suggestion in many circles, which would also apply to other competing Federal operations, it is understood that his idea will be pressed in the next Congress, if Eisenhower approves.

REMOVE SHADOW — Getting the government out of business, it is pointed out, would permit sizable reduction of the staggering public debt and a sharp cut in taxes. It would remove also the shadow that now hovers over all private enterprise.

It is not known how far Congress will want to go in this direction, for it is an extremely complex question. But an extremely important result of the Eisenhower election is that it will check, if not eliminate entirely, the 20-year trend toward government ownership and operation of utility and other industrial activities which, under the commerce or general welfare clauses of the Constitution, could be deemed essential to the national economy and security.

Discussing this general problem, Eisenhower has declared for a "free economy and a minimum of controls." Regarding power development, he favors state and regional rather than Federal suzerainty, where possible.

REPORT DUE — Eisenhower will first pass on this question of private versus public power when a Truman commission submits to him its recommendations for federal development of the vast Missouri River Basin after the pattern of TVA. The report is due at the White House next February.

Under a preliminary Chapman blueprint, this area, which extends from the Mississippi River to the Rockies, and from the Canadian border to the Texas-Oklahoma-Louisiana lines, would become a federal guinea pig.

The government would build new power plants and transmission lines, buy out existing facilities, and operate the integrated system. Industries, homes, farms mining interests would be wholly dependent on the bureaucracy at Washington.

SOURCES ENERGY—It would however, be a radical advance on the TVA experiment, which was inaugurated and justified as a "water-power project." Due to the lack of torrential rivers in the Missouri Basin interior, the principal sources of prospective energy listed in the Chapman reports are coal, still commercially undeveloped shale and lignite deposits, atomic energy, solar rays, and, believe it or not, windmills.

Thus, this program scraps the original, relatively restricted Roosevelt-Norris - Ickes pattern for TVA, Grand Coulee, Bonneville, etc., where the government produces and sells power only as a by-product of such constitutional activities as flood control, navigation, irrigation and wildlife protecton.

TOTALITARIAN — The grandiose Chapman project would put the government into business on a multibillion dollar scale in a region of subcontinent proportions. Such phrases as "world crisis," "national defense" and "critical shortages" are cited in justification.

Even this program, however, is only a beginning—a sort of show window exhibit and pilot plant. For the broad plan, advocated by Interior, contemplates this same totalitarian treatment of 14 other river valleys and basins, from New England to Texas and Washington to Florida.

Even Truman did not dare to sponsor this scheme, and named a special committee to resurvey it, and it is this body which will report to Eisenhower next February. It is difficult to believe that Eisenhower or his coattail Congress will underwrite these extravagant, bureaucratic blueprints.

CALL FOR GOOD MEN

GETTING GOOD MEN TO head government departments and bureaus will be one of the top problems of President Eisenhower. In time of war a chief executive need only call and all citizens will answer. But the protracted and seemingly futile war in Korea has resulted in a lowering of the responses.

Yet, as the Hoover Commission said, "The responsibilities of management in the various departments of the executive branch are today so great that danger to the welfare and security of the country, as well as immense financial losses, can result from incompetence on the top executive level."

Good men do not respond, it is maintained, because pay is lower than they can command in private employment, they are subject to smear attacks, their efforts to do a good job are often frustrated by politics, red tape and the supposed inefficiency of government workers. Many hesitate to enter a field not held in high esteem.

Yet the problem of obtaining competent men remains, and it is inseparable from the projects of improving the government and achieving better results with lower expenditures. It is a problem that will not be solved until better pay is provided to put top men in top posts of the government.

WORTH TRYING

GENERAL WINTER IS PAYING his third visit to the Korean battlefront while his colleague, General Stalemate, continues to overstay his welcome at the United Nations. The desolateness of the situation runs so deep that the current report of India's efforts to intercede with Red China for a cease-fire lights but a faint spark of hope.

Since the start of the Korean affair India has cast itself in the role of peacemaker. Unsuccessful before, its diplomatic mission in Peiping is now reported feeling out the Chinese on an unspecified plan to solve the prisoner-of-war issue. Whether these efforts are crowned with success depend basically on whether the Soviets want to resolve the peninsular war, and to date they have given every indication to the contrary.

There is always the long-shot chance that the Chinese Communists may be tired of pulling Soviet chestnuts out of the fire and something may develop from moves of this sort.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

In the United States, Cabinet officers are secretaries and assistants to the President. They hold office at his option. They are elected to no office and have no independent constituencies. They usually are members of the President's party, although he may appoint citizens who are of the opposite party or of no party at all.

President-elect Eisenhower will have a difficult time choosing his Cabinet, because of his newness to political life. With hardly a working majority in either house of Congress, he is politically dependent upon a Republican - Southern Democrat coalition through which he must get appropriations for his various departments. That coalition can make or break his Administration, because they can withhold, reduce, or delay appropriations. Committees of Congress can also hold up confirmations of persons he appoints or can delay such ratifications or hold unpleasant and prolonged hearings in public. Each member of the Cabinet has to be confirmed by the Senate.

Guess-lists, issued by various prophets, of prospective Cabinet officers have most of them coming from the Eastern Seaboard—principally New York. This is politically impossible. The basic strength of his party is still in the Middle West, which cannot be ignored in Cabinet appointments. If New York gets two seats, it may prove one too many. California has the Vice President and therefore more than one Cabinet member from California would be high. The Southern Democrats who deserted party regularity to vote for Eisenhower are entitled to Cabinet recognition. The Taft Republicans, who constitute the largest element in the Republican Party, will have to be recognized.

Geographical appointments are normal to American political life. It is a recognition of the structure of American society based upon our history. We are a federation of 48 sovereign states.

Furthermore, New York is disliked and distrusted in most parts of the United States, the assumption being that it is a city divided between Wall Street plutocrats and Stork Club wisecrackers. Organization Republicans, who have labored in the desert for 20 years, will expect recognition.

The Republican Party consists of three basic elements: 1. The Taft Republicans; 2. The Young Republicans (since 1932); 3. The New Republicans, (those who came into the party with Eisenhower).

Amity was achieved within the party largely through the efforts of Robert A. Taft and Herbert Hoover. It can almost be said that Taft campaigned as hard as Eisenhower did. That was essential, as otherwise a large number of Republicans would not have voted—enough possibly to change the outcome of the election. Herbert Hoover fought the tendency to sabotage Eisenhower from the day Eisenhower was nominated. It can be said that the Republican Party had not been as unified since 1928 as it was in 1952 and that Taft and Hoover achieved that unity for Eisenhower.

The Young Republicans were divided between the Taft and Eisenhower elements. They have had no governmental experi-

Cross Transfusion Of Blood May Be Life-Saving Measure

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IN one of the most dramatic methods of blood transfusion, the donor's organs can take over and carry out necessary processes temporarily, if the patient's organs are badly damaged. This method, known as cross transfusion, has been developed only recently.

People living today have seen life-saving advances in the art of transfusing blood and transplanting various tissues from one person to another.

We all know that blood can easily be transfused directly from person to person. However, before transfusing any blood, we must determine whether it is the same type as that of the patient receiving it.

Many Blood Banks

We can also keep blood in a refrigerator and transfer it to a patient at a later date. There is a blood "bank" in nearly every community in the country, and most hospitals keep a supply of blood on hand.

We are also starting to have bone banks in which bone is refrigerated and stored. This live bone can be used as transplants in certain types of orthopedic surgery and in reconstructing badly mangled limbs.

For a long time doctors have been trying to transfer whole organs, such as a kidney or heart, from one person to another. Practically all these attempts fail, because the transferred organ fails to stay alive in the second person.

By cross transfusion without actually transplanting the organs, the donor's organs for the time being can carry on for the damaged organs in the patient's body. With this method, a special instrument, acting like a pump, continuously exchanges the blood of the donor and the sick person.

In this way the organs of the healthy person can take over the work of the patient's injured organs when they are unable to filter or condition the blood properly. Most healthy organs normally function at only a small percentage of their full capacity. As many as ten quarts of blood an hour can be exchanged between patient and donor.

While the cross transfusion is going on, the donor feels little ill effect because the healthy organs are strong enough to stand a great deal of extra strain.

Exchange transfusion is being used especially in uremia, or kidney poisoning, in which the normal function of the kidneys has been totally destroyed. Waste products can then pile up in the blood, and eventually cause death.

It is also especially helpful in mercury poisoning of the kidney, and is being used in toxemia of pregnancy and high blood pressure as well.

Only the future will tell whether cross transfusion is a new life-saving method for people with badly damaged organs.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. M. X.: Should a baby just home from the hospital have his crib mattress raised at the head, or should it be level?

Answer: Usually, the baby's bed should be level. However, when the baby has a slight cold, it is sometimes advantageous to lower the head portion of the bed in order that the infected secretions can drain out of the nose and throat more easily.

Angrily he harangued the others, and it appeared that this was news which had just arrived, but it was full of a grim import. Softly Rawls explained to McQuestion, seated beside him.

"He's telling them that an agreement was made to give them one boat and all the loot on board it, back at the Devil's Spin—and all the scalps of those on that boat!"

Color drained away from McQuestion's florid face, leaving it flaccid. He moistened suddenly dry lips with his tongue, his eyes darting nervously.

"He says there was treachery there on the part of the white men, men in boats such as these," Rawls added softly. And then he hissed a warning: "Sit still!"

But his own scalp was crawling in anticipation. His impulse, like McQuestion's, was to make a dash for the small boat waiting at the shore, but that wouldn't do. Yet to wait was to die, for now the messenger was coolly adding the damning details that it was McQuestion who had made that other agreement. The verdict had already gone against them.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—The battle over private versus public development of the nation's water power and kindred resources will give President-elect Eisenhower his first and most dramatic opportunity to show by positive action his attitude toward further government expansion in this and allied industrial fields.

Under Truman-Chapman philosophy, several proposals now before the courts and Congress would give the Interior Department a national monopoly in building and operating vast hydroelectric systems, and in the transmission of energy. If successful, it would conceivably mean the destruction of federal absorption at near - confiscatory prices of the $25 billion public utility structure, with its millions of bondholders and investors.

More importantly, if this industry could be taken over or forced to sell through the threat of government competition, any other private enterprise would stand in similar jeopardy. Numerous judges, in ruling against Interior's claims, have made this premonitory observation.

Truman showed his sympathy for the Chapman viewpoint when he threatened to build U. S. steel mills several years ago, and again when he insisted that the "inherent powers" of the Presidency justified seizure of these factories.

FEDERAL MONOPOLY—With atomic energy now foreseen feasible for commercial application within five years, the threat of federal monopoly becomes more dangerous. The administration has already tried to sew up this source of industrial generation on the ground that it is too valuable militarily for general use and distribution.

It was because of his knowledge of these generally unknown schemes that Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Electric and Defense Mobilizer, recently urged the sale of the government's $7 billion power system to private interests, or to individuals who would exchange government securities for stocks in these utilities.

In view of the favorable reaction to the Wilson suggestion in many circles, which would also apply to other competing Federal operations, it is understood that his idea will be pressed in the next Congress, if Eisenhower approves.

REMOVE SHADOW — Getting the government out of business, it is pointed out, would permit sizable reduction of the staggering public debt and a sharp cut in taxes. It would remove also the shadow that now hovers over all private enterprise.

It is not known how far Congress will want to go in this direction, for it is an extremely complex question. But an extremely important result of the Eisenhower election is that it will check, if not eliminate entirely, the 20-year trend toward government ownership and operation of utility and other industrial activities which, under the commerce or general welfare clauses of the Constitution, could be deemed essential to the national economy and security.

Discussing this general problem, Eisenhower has declared for a "free economy and a minimum of controls." Regarding power development, he favors state and regional rather than Federal suzerainty, where possible.

REPORT DUE — Eisenhower will first pass on this question of private versus public power when a Truman commission submits to him its recommendations for federal development of the vast Missouri River Basin after the pattern of TVA. The report is due at the White House next February.

Under a preliminary Chapman blueprint, this area, which extends from the Mississippi River to the Rockies, and from the Canadian border to the Texas-Oklahoma-Louisiana lines, would become a federal guinea pig.

The government would build new power plants and transmission lines, buy out existing facilities, and operate the integrated system. Industries, homes, farms mining interests would be wholly dependent on the bureaucracy at Washington.

SOURCES ENERGY—It would however, be a radical advance on the TVA experiment, which was inaugurated and justified as a "water-power project." Due to the lack of torrential rivers in the Missouri Basin interior, the principal sources of prospective energy listed in the Chapman reports are coal, still commercially undeveloped shale and lignite deposits, atomic energy, solar rays, and, believe it or not, windmills.

Thus, this program scraps the original, relatively restricted Roosevelt-Norris - Ickes pattern for TVA, Grand Coulee, Bonneville, etc., where the government produces and sells power only as a by-product of such constitutional activities as flood control, navigation, irrigation and wildlife protecton.

TOTALITARIAN — The grandiose Chapman project would put the government into business on a multibillion dollar scale in a region of subcontinent proportions. Such phrases as "world crisis," "national defense" and "critical shortages" are cited in justification.

Even this program, however, is only a beginning—a sort of show window exhibit and pilot plant. For the broad plan, advocated by Interior, contemplates this same totalitarian treatment of 14 other river valleys and basins, from New England to Texas and Washington to Florida.

Even Truman did not dare to sponsor this scheme, and named a special committee to resurvey it, and it is this body which will report to Eisenhower next February. It is difficult to believe that Eisenhower or his coattail Congress will underwrite these extravagant, bureaucratic blueprints.

Try, Stop Me

When chess expert Herb Wise was visiting a Connecticut farm, he noticed that the farmer was carefully tucking forkfuls of hay along the edges of the roof of his shed. Asked to explain, the farmer said, "This ain't very good hay, Mister. If I put it in the manger, the cows wouldn't touch it, but up here where they kin just about reach it, they think they're puttin' somethin' over on me, and they eat every last wisp of it."

A patent medicine manufacturer in Cincinnati considered this unsolicited testimonial worth framing and hanging behind his desk: "Since discovering your wonderful extract I am another woman. My husband is overjoyed."

On a juvenile quiz show, a radio M. C. asked a perspiring lad to name man's best friend. When the boy hesitated, the M. C. added a hint: "The word, sonny, begins with a 'D.' " "Oh, yea," said the kid, brightening, "Dames!"

Parole Aide Still Not Up To Hiss

LEWISBURG, Pa., Nov. 13—(AP)—Dr. George G. Killinger, chairman of the U. S. Parole Board, continued interviews with parole applicants at the Northeastern Penitentiary but with little hope of reaching the case of Alger Hiss Thursday.

Killinger said indications were that Hiss' case would not come up before late Friday. Hiss, serving a five-year sentence for perjury, is eligible for parole on Nov. 21, when one-third of his term will be up.

Rev. Conning Is Guest Speaker For Couples Club

The Rev. Keith Conning, pastor of the new Brookwood Presbyterian church in Columbus, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Presbyterian Couples Club of Geneva Fellowship, held recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Boerner, North Pickaway street.

He used as his topic, "Christian Home", and said that home is a place of permanence, not only a house, but a place in which to sink roots. He said that the word, "love", a much misused word today, is in the Christian religion, "Christ on the cross".

He said that love is a foundation, something you create or you do not have. He stressed the need of family council for bringing the family together daily for Bible reading and prayer and planning management of home, so each member has a responsibility. He added it aids in airing of problems and keeps a family working and praying together.

During the business meeting, plans were made for a Thanksgiving and Christmas project, and a Christmas program was discussed.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening by Mr. and Mrs. Wes Edstrom and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Grigg.

Circle 3 Meets In Wilder Home

Mrs. A. L. Wilder of 143 West Union street was hostess to members of Circle 3 of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church, Wednesday evening in her home.

Mrs. John Magill is chairman of the group and Mrs. Mabel Maynard was in charge of the program. Mrs. Ray Bales, chairman of the ways and means committee, gave her report.

Mrs. M. E. Noggle showed colored slides during the evening, which were taken by M. E. Noggle and Don Hll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hill, who is stationed in Alemeda, Calif. with the armed forces.

Hostesses were Mrs. Wilder, Mrs. George Foerst, Mrs. George Haswell and Mrs. Noggle.

Rev. Conning Is Guest Speaker For Couples Club

The Rev. Keith Conning, pastor of the new Brookwood Presbyterian church in Columbus, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Presbyterian Couples Club of Geneva Fellowship, held recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Boerner, North Pickaway street.

He used as his topic, "Christian Home", and said that home is a place of permanence, not only a house, but a place in which to sink roots. He said that the word, "love", a much misused word today, is in the Christian religion, "Christ on the cross".

He said that love is a foundation, something you create or you do not have. He stressed the need of family council for bringing the family together daily for Bible reading and prayer and planning management of home, so each member has a responsibility. He added it aids in airing of problems and keeps a family working and praying together.

During the business meeting, plans were made for a Thanksgiving and Christmas project, and a Christmas program was discussed.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening by Mr. and Mrs. Wes Edstrom and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Grigg.

EUB Youth Group Plans Breakfast

Youth Fellowship of the First Evangelical United Brethren church met Tuesday in the Sunday school room for the November meeting. The Rev. Carl Wilson showed a film entitled, "The Good Book."

Thanksgiving breakfast was discussed and it was decided that tickets will be sold. Miss Lucille Kirkwood missionary advisor, will have the program and a thank offering will be taken for missions.

Fred Brown, president, appointed the following persons to decorate and set up the dining room: Emmett Eccard, chairman, Margene McCafferty, Ronald Hawkes, Brenda Brown and Carol Jo Metcalf.

It was announced that a Thanksgiving basket will be given to a needy family and every member is asked to contribute. Orville Jacobs, Donald Eldridge and onald Eldridge will deliver the basket.

Nineteen members were present and the meeting adjourned to enable them to work on the newspaper drive.

Private Debt Said About $300 Million; Some Bankers Fret

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—(AP)—Private debt in America has doubled since the end of World War II. The rate of increase is the steepest in record.

Corporate debt has climbed 82 per cent. Debts of individuals and unincorporated businesses have gone up 120 per cent. Together these groups, owing $141 billion in 1945, now approach a debt total of $300 billion.

Add to this the nearly $265 billion that the federal government owes, and the state and local government indebtedness of $27 billion (twice what it was in 1945), and you have a total of around $590 billion.

Bankers say the private debt is not out of line with the increased national income, which was $277 billion last year and will be higher this year.

In contrast, private debt in 1929 was $161 billion, nearly double national income of $87 billion hatt year.

First, they worry about the rate of growth in private debt (Doubled in the last six years) while in the six years before 1929 it rose only 40 per cent.

And the last three years have seen the sharpest rise in debt. Private debt jumped $36 billion in 1950, went up another $31 billion last year, and is expected to increase by another $33 billion this year.

Corporation plans indicate there will be at least a temporary post-election upswing in debt offerings, most of them to finance expansion plans.

Second, some bankers worry lest something might turn the economy downward, slice national income, and put part of the private debt in jeopardy.

Much of the debt is in the form of investment in plant expansions. Many hold that certain industries now have much greater production capacities than present civilian demand justifies.

It will take time, bankers argue, before the normal growth of demand, plus the normal repayment of debt, will work off any excesses in capacity and in corporate and individual debts.

Individual debts have piled up from many sources. Home mortgage debt increased $6 billion this year, and more than that in each of the two previous years.

LAST YEAR 13½ million persons bought new or used cars, and about two-thirds of them bought on time. Financing by sales credit companies and commercial banks came to nearly $8 billion.

Television fans still owe an estimated $750 million on their sets. And TV companies expect to sell a lot more on time next year.

Total installment credit, up $2 billion in a year, now tops $15 billion. And total consumer debts including installment are put at $21¾ billion.

But bankers also see many offsetting circumstances. They point out that an expanding economy always brings with it a growth in private debt.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

A tot about two and a half was roving about in a little corner store with his sister.

A neighbor there said to the father, "How these children have grown."

The father replied, "They surely keep us busy, especially Little Freddy. He's never happy unless he's breaking something. Give him a new toy and he will jump on it and smash it right away."

The lad and older sister were listening, of course. He must have felt that he was a great hero and his sister must have envied him.

You often have heard other parents brag before a little child of what a hellion this child is and wondered why the braggart was so foolish.

What may have amazed you most was that the braggart rarely was an illiterate, but often a college or university graduate and probably had read widely on modern theories of rearing children.

FREQUENTLY, the elementary principal must hear lurid accounts of the bad things a child does told by a parent right in the presence of this child. How often a physician is unable to stop a mother from talking to him right before a child of the scenes he creates at mealtime or bedtime or the tantrums he has.

When you wish to talk with an expert about bad behavior in your child, don't have the youngster present when you do, unless the expert advises you to have him there. And you can see how unwise it is to brag about the bad behavior, even about the "unusual things" your child does or says, for his ears.

Sometimes, however, for a young child to hear us tell of some bad behavior of his can have a different effect than that already indicated. It can discourage and humiliate him. For example, when a guest pays him a compliment, we may immediately add, "But he isn't always so good," and then relate some recent deeds of his for which he was punished.

Some fathers brag before their school-age boys of things they used to do in childhood to outwit their parents and teachers.

Always their sons listen eagerly and, probably, hope they too might have similar experiences to brag about. The motive for this bragging by the father seems to be a bid for hero worship.

But the ill effect on the young worshippers seems to be overlooked.

Of course, we parents can't afford to go to the other extreme and try to make our offspring think we were perfect children. Sometimes, in humility, we should let them know we also did some bad things as children. But we certainly should not indicate that we are proud of such memories.

It's wonderful when we grow up with our children and treat them as precious persons and worthy members of the family.

Q. What do you think of paying a child for getting good grades at school?

A. It's usually bad, though when used with discretion it might stimulate an occasional child to greater effort. If used at all, it should be for gains made through increased effort, and not merely for excellence.

PROCLAIMED heir-apparent to the chrysanthemum throne of Japan, Prince Akihito Tsugu-No-Miya, 18-year-old son of Emperor Hirohito, reflects the seriousness of the occasion as he poses in severe morning garb. His coming of age was marked by special ceremonies in Tokyo. (International)

COMB EARTH FOR SOILS WHICH MAY LEAD TO DISCOVERIES OF NEW WONDER DRUGS

By Central Press

PEARL RIVER, N. Y.—Thousands of samples of long-dormant soil, mailed in from all parts of America and remote areas of the globe, are under continual test at laboratories here by scientists searching for the next wonder drug.

Gathering the samples are undergraduates in a score of universities, scientists, and uncounted other volunteers — among them such colorful figures as an Indian princess and professional mountain guide.

When it was revealed by Lederle Laboratories that the golden mold, aureomycin was developed from soil samples collected in Missouri, two graduate student biologists at Kansas State Teachers college, Emporia, promptly mailed in earth samples from Eisenhower park in Abilene.

"If the anemic soil of Missouri can produce so great a benefit as aureomycin," said Elizabeth Koch, one of the graduate biologists, "imagine what wonders may come from the land that produced an Eisenhower!"

In a churchyard on Indian island, reservation of the Penobscots in Maine, Princess Little Bird and a University of Maine agronomist, Hall Carpenter, last week gathered samples of soil which probably had laid undisturbed since the Ice Age. These are now undergoing tests.

A score of samples of rich Louisiana soil which has yielded a wealth of agricultural crops and oil, were gathered and sent to the laboratories by two young research assistants, Elizabeth Holbrook and Sally Olivier, at Tulane university, New Orleans.

ON A RECENT field trip to the legendary country of the Pirate Jean LaFitte, the pair brought back soil samples from the banks of the Barataria bayou, from an old cemetery, and from a grassy knoll shaded by moss-draped oaks.

Among the spots which the scientists describe as "favorable areas" for sampling are old cemeteries with grass sod, old lawns, native grasslands along older roads, and certain types of pastures, woodlands, and loam soils.

When the Louisiana samples are assayed, they may prove more valuable to humanity than all the pirate treasure around the seven seas.

At elevations of 6,700 feet and 13,760 feet in the Teton mountains of Wyoming, soil samples were collected by Glenn Exum, famed mountain guide, and Miss Nancy Crandall, both of Jenny Lake.

From Korea, Marine Cpl. Joseph W. Antonacci wrote to Pearl River from Korea offering to send in samples of earth from his area, near the Imjum river. His letter was inspired by newspaper and magazine articles describing how aureomycin was developed.

With the majestic Teton mountains as a background, Nancy Crandall and Glenn Exum, mountain guide, search for samples of long dormant soils.

It would be no trouble at all, he said. "We are forever digging bunkers, trenches, foxholes, etc. If you will let me know how much soil to send, and how to wrap it, I'll be glad to be of service."

Other samples arrive daily from colleges coast-to-coast. Even high school students are participating. Among the early samples to arrive was one from Judy Bell and Mary Alice Rustin, students at the Columbia (S. C.) High school.

Aureomycin, the golden wonder drug, appeared in 1948 as the result of similar widespread search. Tens of thousands of soil samples were tested before test tubes revealed the golden mold which so effectively has prevented growth of staphylococci, streptococci, and a variety of germs called bacilli.

City Permit Issued For $15,000 Home

A permit issued to Lewis Sharpe of North Court street for construction of a $15,000 dwelling was among the latest issued by the city zoning and planning commission.

The new residence will be built at 142 Folsom avenue and will be of one-story ranch type design to house one family.

Fairfield Homes Inc. of Lancaster is listed as contractor.

Other applicants, purpose of the permit and estimated costs were as follows:

Frank Boysel of 658 East Mound street to build a cottage type residence at 660 East Mound street; $8,000.

Single Penny Upsets County

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 13—(AP)—Auditors are carefully going through 18 months of daily bank deposit slips in the county clerk's office, desperately trying to find the source of a mysterious discrepancy.

Someone slipped an extra penny into the till and threw the books of two courthouse offices ouf of balance.

COMB EARTH FOR SOILS WHICH MAY LEAD TO DISCOVERIES OF NEW WONDER DRUGS

By Central Press

PEARL RIVER, N. Y.—Thousands of samples of long-dormant soil, mailed in from all parts of America and remote areas of the globe, are under continual test at laboratories here by scientists searching for the next wonder drug.

Gathering the samples are undergraduates in a score of universities, scientists, and uncounted other volunteers — among them such colorful figures as an Indian princess and professional mountain guide.

When it was revealed by Lederle Laboratories that the golden mold, aureomycin was developed from soil samples collected in Missouri, two graduate student biologists at Kansas State Teachers college, Emporia, promptly mailed in earth samples from Eisenhower park in Abilene.

"If the anemic soil of Missouri can produce so great a benefit as aureomycin," said Elizabeth Koch, one of the graduate biologists, "imagine what wonders may come from the land that produced an Eisenhower!"

In a churchyard on Indian island, reservation of the Penobscots in Maine, Princess Little Bird and a University of Maine agronomist, Hall Carpenter, last week gathered samples of soil which probably had laid undisturbed since the Ice Age. These are now undergoing tests.

A score of samples of rich Louisiana soil which has yielded a wealth of agricultural crops and oil, were gathered and sent to the laboratories by two young research assistants, Elizabeth Holbrook and Sally Olivier, at Tulane university, New Orleans.

Among the spots which the scientists describe as "favorable areas" for sampling are old cemeteries with grass sod, old lawns, native grasslands along older roads, and certain types of pastures, woodlands, and loam soils.

When the Louisiana samples are assayed, they may prove more valuable to humanity than all the pirate treasure around the seven seas.

At elevations of 6,700 feet and 13,760 feet in the Teton mountains of Wyoming, soil samples were collected by Glenn Exum, famed mountain guide, and Miss Nancy Crandall, both of Jenny Lake.

From Korea, Marine Cpl. Joseph W. Antonacci wrote to Pearl River from Korea offering to send in samples of earth from his area, near the Imjum river. His letter was inspired by newspaper and magazine articles describing how aureomycin was developed.

With the majestic Teton mountains as a background, Nancy Crandall and Glenn Exum, mountain guide, search for samples of long dormant soils.

It would be no trouble at all, he said. "We are forever digging bunkers, trenches, foxholes, etc. If you will let me know how much soil to send, and how to wrap it, I'll be glad to be of service."

Other samples arrive daily from colleges coast-to-coast. Even high school students are participating. Among the early samples to arrive was one from Judy Bell and Mary Alice Rustin, students at the Columbia (S. C.) High school.

Aureomycin, the golden wonder drug, appeared in 1948 as the result of similar widespread search. Tens of thousands of soil samples were tested before test tubes revealed the golden mold which so effectively has prevented growth of staphylococci, streptococci, and a variety of germs called bacilli.

City Permit Issued For $15,000 Home

A permit issued to Lewis Sharpe of North Court street for construction of a $15,000 dwelling was among the latest issued by the city zoning and planning commission.

The new residence will be built at 142 Folsom avenue and will be of one-story ranch type design to house one family.

Fairfield Homes Inc. of Lancaster is listed as contractor.

Other applicants, purpose of the permit and estimated costs were as follows:

Frank Boysel of 658 East Mound street to build a cottage type residence at 660 East Mound street; $8,000.

Electric Power From A-Energy Looming Ahead

Scientist Expects First Plant In U.S. In 4 Or 5 Years

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 — (AP)—The day of electricity from the atom at an economical cost may be coming much faster than first thought, according to industrial scientists.

One leading industrial chemist, Dr. Charles Allen Thomas, president of the Monsanto Chemical Co., thinks it may be only four or five years off in this country.

Some others think England may beat us to it—not because the British have better or cheaper methods of getting electric power from atomic reactors, but because production of electricity by present methods is more expensive there than here.

The cost of building a new electric plant in England is so high since the war that atomic produced power would be comparatively competitive. American power companies have the benefit of greater natural water and other resources.

ALL SUCH plans, of course, are subject to the approval of the Atomic Energy Commission. And security considerations will weigh heavily in any decision.

But if Britain should start work on commercial use of atomic energy, industrialists here hope that might spur fast action in the U. S.

Now that Britain has an atomic plant, scientists here estimate she could build a generator and supply commercial power to industry at about one-and-a-half cent a kilowatt hour, a figure competitive there but higher than present American power costs.

Dr. Thomas, however, thinks present atomic power costs will soon be brought lower.

He foresees "the possibility of newly designed reactors, similar in use, that will simultaneously produce plutonium for the atomic stockpile and electric power for civilian and industrial consumption."

THERE ARE two great roadblocks. The first, of course, is military security which keeps secret many of the facts that industrial scientists would have to have before they could apply atomic energy to their industry's problems.

The second block is the great expense involved, and of the governmental monopoly over the material used in atomic plants.

Industrial leaders have been tackling both blocks. Some have argued for greater partnership between the military and the civilian in research on atomic uses. And others have struck at the cost angle.

The new type of atomic reactors that Dr. Thomas suggests may be the answer that will let industry harness the atom for peacetime pursuits.

Steals Former Mother-In-Law

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — Amazed police of Lyallpur district have reported the case of a man who abducted his own ex-mother-in-law.

According to testimony, the man decided to use force in obtaining the return of his divorced wife. He gathered several well-armed friends, rode with them to his former wife's home, and demanded her return. But her mother said the ex-wife was not there.

So he grabbed his mother-in-law, the report stated, forced her onto the back of his horse and galloped away. Police are still searching for her.

But if Britain should start work on commercial use of atomic energy, industrialists here hope that might spur fast action in the U. S.

Now that Britain has an atomic plant, scientists here estimate she could build a generator and supply commercial power to industry at about one-and-a-half cent a kilowatt hour, a figure competitive there but higher than present American power costs.

Dr. Thomas, however, thinks present atomic power costs will soon be brought lower.

He foresees "the possibility of newly designed reactors, similar in use, that will simultaneously produce plutonium for the atomic stockpile and electric power for civilian and industrial consumption."

THERE ARE two great roadblocks. The first, of course, is military security which keeps secret many of the facts that industrial scientists would have to have before they could apply atomic energy to their industry's problems.

The second block is the great expense involved, and of the governmental monopoly over the material used in atomic plants.

Industrial leaders have been tackling both blocks. Some have argued for greater partnership between the military and the civilian in research on atomic uses. And others have struck at the cost angle.

The new type of atomic reactors that Dr. Thomas suggests may be the answer that will let industry harness the atom for peacetime pursuits.

Steals Former Mother-In-Law

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — Amazed police of Lyallpur district have reported the case of a man who abducted his own ex-mother-in-law.

According to testimony, the man decided to use force in obtaining the return of his divorced wife. He gathered several well-armed friends, rode with them to his former wife's home, and demanded her return. But her mother said the ex-wife was not there.

So he grabbed his mother-in-law, the report stated, forced her onto the back of his horse and galloped away. Police are still searching for her.

TO SOMETHING NEW IN FUEL OIL

Wake up to new, Anti-Rust Sinclair Fuel Oil — the oil that contains the amazing Sinclair rust inhibitor, RD-119,® developed by Sinclair Research.

RD-119 assures you a purer, cleaner fuel oil than ever because it stops rust in the pipe lines, tank cars and trucks which carry the oil from the refinery to your home. In your burner, RD-119 protects against rust and corrosion that clog strainers and burner nozzle — protects against the excessive wear on burner parts caused by abrasive rust particles.

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President
Hardin College

The election of a new president is only a beginning step by the citizenry.

If we are to secure the greatest good from the new administration, citizens will have to make participation in government one of their major responsibilities.

At no time in my memory has there been a more universal interest in political affairs or a more active participation by so many citizens.

This is a highly encouraging fact. But it will not bring lasting benefit for the nation unless it carries over into the weeks and months ahead.

We could be assured of the best possible operation of our government, and the greatest degree of security, if we could apply the Biblical admonition, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," in our basic relationship to our government at the local, state and federal levels.

I'M NOT thinking of taxes in the sense of giving; but of personal intellect, personal interest, personal action, personal know-how; and above all, the making of personal sacrifices for the common good.

The people who founded this nation and gave us the great government documents, the Declaration of Independence and the U. S. Constitution, did so through the making of personal sacrifices. Our new president has asked for and needs the intelligent help of every American. There has never been such an over - whelming accumulation of grave problems confronting the leadership of our nation.

None of these problems has been solved merely by the election of General Eisenhower to the presidency. They will require the combined best wisdom and farsightedness of the American people. Wisdom is based on logic, which is based on truth or facts, which are based on study.

The challenge then, as our new president prepares to take over, is to become better informed on the problems and then to make whatever sacrifice is necessary of time and effort to help find the right solution for them.

What to do about Korea and the looming threat of World War III is perhaps the most acute problem facing the nation.

Last week Dr. Melchior Palyi, the noted authority on international finance, who is now associated with the new School of American Studies at Harding College, spoke in our auditorium on the subject: "The Global Showdown Ahead." He is convinced, after extensive recent travel and study abroad, that Russia would not dare attack the United States in the foreseeable future.

Dr. Palyi believes Russia would end the Korean war and release Eastern Germany if the U. S. and her Western allies would give assurance they would not arm Germany and Japan. He has studied the grave international problems and is fulfilling his American citizenship responsibility by presenting his opinions publicly.

THOUGH HIS opinions may be contrary to those of other recognized authorities, they will be beneficial to the public's thinking, and finally to the President of the United States, if they are heard and read by other people.

What we do about the Korean war effects the future life and prosperity of every American. And so does the solution of the other major problems. That's why we should, all of us, continue to take an active interest in those problems.

Here are some problems toward which our best minds, and all our minds, should be directed daily: How much socialism can our way of life contain and still give individual freedom and the opportunity for progress to all citizens?

Where and how can the expense of government be cut, so that our tax burden will be reduced? What's the best way to root out corruption and keep it out of public life? How can a closer, mutually beneficial harmony be achieved between American employers and employees?

This column and all the resources of the Harding College National Education Program will be devoted to examining facts relating to such problems in the months ahead.

TEACHER for Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth, when he starts to take flying lessons will be Flight Lt. Caryl Ramsay Gordon, 29. The duke will learn to fly at the headquarters of the RAF's home command, White Waltham air base, England. (International)

She also has been active as a senior advisor, in Twin W, physical education club, Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, and Monnett Day committee. She is majoring in speech and psychology.

Membership in the Tower Players is earned by participating in activities at the radio station and by accumulating at least 50 hours of service time.

Plan For Dental Popularity Cited

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13 — (AP) — By drilling children's teeth during school hours and getting the pupils excused from classes, dentists can become popular with the small set

Dr. Alfred E. Seyler, director of the children's clinic of the University of Detroit, gave this formula for popularity Tuesday at the annual convention of the Ohio State Dental Association.

SWATHED in bandages, Anthony Mittiburga, 19, peers through bars in a New York police station after leading 35 police cars in a 45-minute chase. He was captured when a bullet-riddled stolen auto he was driving hit a light pole. A terrified youth and two girls also were in the car. (International)

Attacking Fox Choked To Death

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 13 — (AP)— Mrs. Frances Osterling grabbed a gray fox and choked it to death Wednesday.

The animal came out of a nearby woods and bit her in the yard of her home.

Firemen Tiring Of Rescue Chore

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13—(AP)—Engine Company 27 is getting a bit weary of rescuing people from the crest of a 500-foot cliff in Griffith Park.

In its eighth rescue at the spot it brought down sailor Paul Hess and his girl friend, Miss Arlene Peterson, who were trying to climb to the top of an old quarry at the head of Canyon Drive Tuesday.

Old Log Cabin Found In House

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—(AP)—Frank Gorman, Madison County farmer, knew he was getting old wood when he wrecked a home in Columbus.

But he was surprised to find a century-old log cabin under the siding of the house. Gorman said Wednesday he would use the 12-inch square logs for farm buildings.

GREAT GOING

NUMBER ONE item on most anyone's list of automobile "musts" is power—the life and lift of your going.

In this Buick SPECIAL you get a valve-in-head high-compression Fireball 8 Engine that can pour out a wealth of the thrillingest power you ever held rein on—more power per dollar than you'll find elsewhere.

Number Two is ride—the way you go—the comfort and steadiness and luxury of your travel.

Every Buick has big soft coil springs on each wheel to cushion your way—and an unyielding torque-tube that firms and steadies your ride. Yet these are just two of the fifteen Buick ride features that cost, literally, more than a million dollars to engineer.

Then there's style, there's room, there's visibility, there's handling ease—all part of your travel—all helping to make the difference between good going and great going.

But price is very much part of the picture, too—what you pay for what you get.

So when you add in the big horsepower rating you get in a Buick, plus the extra thrill and thrift of its Fireball performance...

When you measure the inches of room, count up the many hours of comfort through the years, check off things like durability and solid satisfaction and high trade-in value...

Come in and see us today or tomorrow, won't you?

MVP Award Top Feature Of Grid Fete

Presentation of the trophy to Circleville high school's "most valuable player" during the 1952 football season will be the feature event Thursday evening during the annual Booster Club banquet.

This year's Booster fete was planned for 6:30 p. m. Thursday in the service center of First EUB church. A crowd of about 300 persons is to attend the fete.

Guests during the session will be the varsity Tiger team, each anxiously eying the MVP award; the reserve team; managers; cheerleaders; and coaches.

Guest speaker for the affair will be George Vlerebome, coach of Zanesville high school and son of Mrs. Channing Vlerebome, East Main street.

JOHN HEISKELL, former star athlete in Circleville, will be toastmaster for the occasion.

Thursday's banquet is expected to be the last of the year for the Tiger gridders, although they will be closely eying the South Central Ohio League meeting of coaches and school officials next Wednesday in Washington C. H.

At that meeting, the league heads will award the 1952 championship to undefeated Washington, and the coaches will make their annual "All-League" honor selections.

$84 Million Shelled Out By Ohio Bettors

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13 — (AP)—Bettors wagered $84,454,839 at Ohio tracks in 1952, an increase of 68 per cent over 1951, the Ohio Race Commission reported Wednesday.

Taxes collected from pari-mutuel betting from April 1 to Oct. 31, dates fixed by law for racing, totaled $1,849,036. This was 79 per cent greater than the record season of 1951.

Night harness race betting in 1952 more than doubled the previous year's figure of $5,983,452. This year, $12,291,133 was bet on the trotters and pacers, with fans at the new Grandview oval in the heavily-populated Cleveland area responsible for $4,897,694 of it.

Wiethe Resigns As Cincy Coach

CINCINNATI, Nov. 13—(AP)—John Wiethe, who combined law with basketball successfully for six years, has given up the basketball end of it. He quit Wednesday as coach at the University of Cincinnati.

George Smith, a former U. C. football star and the Bearcat freshman basketball coach since 1948, was named immediately to succeed him. Wiethe, who maintained a successful legal practice all the while, coached Cincinnati to 106 victories and 47 defeats in six seasons against some rugged coast-to-coast competition.

40-Point Half Plan Offered

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13—(AP)—Cliff Wells, basketball coach of Tulane University, plans to introduce before the National Basketball Rules Committee a radical innovation for the collegiate sport.

Wells proposes to base halves on points rather than minutes. He would end the first half when one team has scored 40 points and the second half when one team has scored 80. He contends:

Pennsy End Leads Pass-Catchers

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—(AP)—Joe McClaren, a six-foot, one-inch junior from Erie, Pa., leads the nation's major college football players in passes caught.

Figures released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau reveal McClaren is virtually a one-man offense on the Drake team. He has snatched 42 passes from the team's tossers, which is just half the completed passes of the eleven. In addition, he has accounted for 57.6 per cent of Drake's aerial yardage.

Rivera Placed On Probation

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—(AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick used the velvet fist treatment in placing Jim Rivera, Chicago White Sox rookie, on indefinite probation.

Baseball's boss warned the speedy outfielder that if he failed to "toe the line" he would be banished permanently. Rivera was cleared by the Cook County (Ill.) grand jury on a rape charge last month, but Frick maintained the Sox outfielder is guilty "of a certain type of moral delinquency."

Hayes Surprises With KO Victory

DETROIT, Nov. 13—(AP)—Norman Hayes turned an apparent defeat into a technical knockout victory here Wednesday night.

Hayes, 160½ pounds, of Boston, stopped Joey DeJohn, 165, Syracuse, at 1:44 minutes of the third round of a nationally - televised fight, scheduled for ten rounds. DeJohn was confidently boring in, trying to widen a bleeding gash over Hayes' right eye when Hayes floored him with a right to the side of the head. Hayes dropped him twice more and Referee Johnny Weber stopped the fight.

Best Hanover Draft Offered At Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 13—(AP)—The third and best draft of Hanover Shoe Farms yearlings went under the auctioneer's hammer today at the 14th annual standardbred sale.

The Pennsylvania nursery consigned 40 trotting and pacing youngsters, the last of 101 originally listed. They alone were believed sufficient to send the week's total sales soaring past the $1 million mark for the sixth straight year.

The two tops, for the day and for the week, came from the Meadowlands consignment, both sons of the farm's premier stallion, Adios.

Meadow Gold, a full brother to the fleet Meadow Rice, brought $30,000 to the final bid of W. G. Reynolds, Louisville sportsman who also owns Meadow Rice.

Meadow Pace, half brother to Tar Heel, was sold for $25,000 to Sol Camp of Shafter, Calif.

Bowl Pickings Getting Slim As Deadline Nears

Big Seven Conference Rules Out Activity By Any Of Members

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 — (AP)—The football bowl pickings are getting slimmer and slimmer as the deadline nears for the selection of the representatives in the post-season gridiron classics.

Another conference bowed out of the picture officially Wednesday when the faculty committee of the Big Seven ruled to abide by the circuit's present rule which prohibits any post-season competition.

That action put a quietus on reports that Oklahoma and possibly some other members of the conference would seek permission to play on New Year's Day. Once-beaten Oklahoma had been mentioned as a possible participant in the Sugar, Cotton and Orange owls.

As the situation now stands only the Rose Bowl is definitely set with the Pacific Coast Conference winner, probably Southern California or UCLA, opposing the Big 10 champion.

THE COTTON BOWL is sure of the Southwest Conference titleholder as the host team. Right now Texas is in line for that honor. Georgia Tech, powerhouse of the Southeastern League has accepted an invitation to play in the Sugar Bowl.

If Florida gets past Tennessee Saturday, then the Gators can look for an Orange Bowl bid. They have lost to Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech but only by a combined margin of 10 points. The Vols of Tennessee, with a 6-1 record, also have eyes on one of the major bowls.

Mississippi, another member of the Southeastern Conference, likewise is looking bowlward but the Rebels have a Saturday engagement with powerful Maryland.

The Terrapins themselves would like very much to travel to the sunny climes on Jan. 1 but they are on probation for playing in the Sugar Bowl last New Year's Day and are not likely to risk additional punishment by the Southern Conference.

Even the pickings among the independents are not plentiful.

Without attempting to list them in order of possible preference the leading eligibles include Pittsburgh, Syracuse and Holy Cross and possibly Villanova.

Pittsburgh has defeats by Oklahoma and West Virginia on the wrong side. Syracuse has dropped two, one to Bolling Field and the other to No. 1 ranked Michigan State. Holy Cross has lost only to Syracuse but has not played an impressive schedule. Villanova definitely was in running until smothered 42-6 last week by Tulsa.

Illinois Pass Ace Nearing Big 10 Mark

CHICAGO, Nov. 13—(AP)—Illinois' Tommy O'Connell, who is shattering the Big Ten's passing records, can also set a new mark for total offense.

Among the aerial records he has yet to beat are number of attempts and yards gained. He has tried 137 passes and has two games to go to beat the mark of 146 by Wisconsin's Johnny Coatta last year. O'Connell also has 78 completions, beating Coatta's mark of 76, and has gained 884 yards.

O'Connell is passing for so many yards he threatens the total offense mark—based on passing and running—of 1,079 set by Minnesota's Paul Giel last year.

If he maintains his current average against Ohio State Saturday and in the last game Nov. 22 with Northwestern, O'Connell easily should add 234 more passing yards and thus break Giel's mark.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—(AP)—Coach Woody Hayes says if his Buckeyes can intercept one Illinois pass for every four completions, the Ohio State footballers will fare well Saturday.

The squad made many "interceptions" Wednesday during a two hour workout. Senior Bill Peterson impersonated the Illini's ace passer, Tommy O'Connell, and the squad went through Illinois' known pass plays.

MVP Award Top Feature Of Grid Fete

Presentation of the trophy to Circleville high school's "most valuable player" during the 1952 football season will be the feature event Thursday evening during the annual Booster Club banquet.

This year's Booster fete was planned for 6:30 p. m. Thursday in the service center of First EUB church. A crowd of about 300 persons is to attend the fete.

Guests during the session will be the varsity Tiger team, each anxiously eying the MVP award; the reserve team; managers; cheerleaders; and coaches.

Guest speaker for the affair will be George Vlerebome, coach of Zanesville high school and son of Mrs. Channing Vlerebome, East Main street.

JOHN HEISKELL, former star athlete in Circleville, will be toastmaster for the occasion.

Thursday's banquet is expected to be the last of the year for the Tiger gridders, although they will be closely eying the South Central Ohio League meeting of coaches and school officials next Wednesday in Washington C. H.

At that meeting, the league heads will award the 1952 championship to undefeated Washington, and the coaches will make their annual "All-League" honor selections.

$84 Million Shelled Out By Ohio Bettors

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13 — (AP)—Bettors wagered $84,454,839 at Ohio tracks in 1952, an increase of 68 per cent over 1951, the Ohio Race Commission reported Wednesday.

Taxes collected from pari-mutuel betting from April 1 to Oct. 31, dates fixed by law for racing, totaled $1,849,036. This was 79 per cent greater than the record season of 1951.

Last year fans bet $50,643,600, of which $1,042,424 was funnelled to the state in taxes.

Night harness race betting in 1952 more than doubled the previous year's figure of $5,983,452. This year, $12,291,133 was bet on the trotters and pacers, with fans at the new Grandview oval in the heavily-populated Cleveland area responsible for $4,897,694 of it.

Wiethe Resigns As Cincy Coach

CINCINNATI, Nov. 13—(AP)—John Wiethe, who combined law with basketball successfully for six years, has given up the basketball end of it. He quit Wednesday as coach at the University of Cincinnati.

George Smith, a former U. C. football star and the Bearcat freshman basketball coach since 1948, was named immediately to succeed him. Wiethe, who maintained a successful legal practice all the while, coached Cincinnati to 106 victories and 47 defeats in six seasons against some rugged coast-to-coast competition.

40-Point Half Plan Offered

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13—(AP)—Cliff Wells, basketball coach of Tulane University, plans to introduce before the National Basketball Rules Committee a radical innovation for the collegiate sport.

Wells proposes to base halves on points rather than minutes. He would end the first half when one team has scored 40 points and the second half when one team has scored 80. He contends:

Pennsy End Leads Pass-Catchers

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—(AP)—Joe McClaren, a six-foot, one-inch junior from Erie, Pa., leads the nation's major college football players in passes caught.

Figures released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau reveal McClaren is virtually a one-man offense on the Drake team. He has snatched 42 passes from the team's tossers, which is just half the completed passes of the eleven. In addition, he has accounted for 57.6 per cent of Drake's aerial yardage.

Rivera Placed On Probation

Baseball's boss warned the speedy outfielder that if he failed to "toe the line" he would be banished permanently. Rivera was cleared by the Cook County (Ill.) grand jury on a rape charge last month, but Frick maintained the Sox outfielder is guilty "of a certain type of moral delinquency."

Hayes Surprises With KO Victory

DETROIT, Nov. 13—(AP)—Norman Hayes turned an apparent defeat into a technical knockout victory here Wednesday night.

Hayes, 160½ pounds, of Boston, stopped Joey DeJohn, 165, Syracuse, at 1:44 minutes of the third round of a nationally - televised fight, scheduled for ten rounds. DeJohn was confidently boring in, trying to widen a bleeding gash over Hayes' right eye when Hayes floored him with a right to the side of the head. Hayes dropped him twice more and Referee Johnny Weber stopped the fight.

Best Hanover Draft Offered At Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 13—(AP)—The third and best draft of Hanover Shoe Farms yearlings went under the auctioneer's hammer today at the 14th annual standardbred sale.

The Pennsylvania nursery consigned 40 trotting and pacing youngsters, the last of 101 originally listed. They alone were believed sufficient to send the week's total sales soaring past the $1 million mark for the sixth straight year.

The two tops, for the day and for the week, came from the Meadowlands consignment, both sons of the farm's premier stallion, Adios.

Meadow Gold, a full brother to the fleet Meadow Rice, brought $30,000 to the final bid of W. G. Reynolds, Louisville sportsman who also owns Meadow Rice.

Meadow Pace, half brother to Tar Heel, was sold for $25,000 to Sol Camp of Shafter, Calif.

Bowl Pickings Getting Slim As Deadline Nears

Big Seven Conference Rules Out Activity By Any Of Members

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 — (AP)—The football bowl pickings are getting slimmer and slimmer as the deadline nears for the selection of the representatives in the post-season gridiron classics.

Another conference bowed out of the picture officially Wednesday when the faculty committee of the Big Seven ruled to abide by the circuit's present rule which prohibits any post-season competition.

That action put a quietus on reports that Oklahoma and possibly some other members of the conference would seek permission to play on New Year's Day. Once-beaten Oklahoma had been mentioned as a possible participant in the Sugar, Cotton and Orange owls.

As the situation now stands only the Rose Bowl is definitely set with the Pacific Coast Conference winner, probably Southern California or UCLA, opposing the Big 10 champion.

THE COTTON BOWL is sure of the Southwest Conference titleholder as the host team. Right now Texas is in line for that honor. Georgia Tech, powerhouse of the Southeastern League has accepted an invitation to play in the Sugar Bowl.

If Florida gets past Tennessee Saturday, then the Gators can look for an Orange Bowl bid. They have lost to Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech but only by a combined margin of 10 points. The Vols of Tennessee, with a 6-1 record, also have eyes on one of the major bowls.

Mississippi, another member of the Southeastern Conference, likewise is looking bowlward but the Rebels have a Saturday engagement with powerful Maryland.

The Terrapins themselves would like very much to travel to the sunny climes on Jan. 1 but they are on probation for playing in the Sugar Bowl last New Year's Day and are not likely to risk additional punishment by the Southern Conference.

Even the pickings among the independents are not plentiful.

Without attempting to list them in order of possible preference the leading eligibles include Pittsburgh, Syracuse and Holy Cross and possibly Villanova.

Pittsburgh has defeats by Oklahoma and West Virginia on the wrong side. Syracuse has dropped two, one to Bolling Field and the other to No. 1 ranked Michigan State. Holy Cross has lost only to Syracuse but has not played an impressive schedule. Villanova definitely was in running until smothered 42-6 last week by Tulsa.

Illinois Pass Ace Nearing Big 10 Mark

CHICAGO, Nov. 13—(AP)—Illinois' Tommy O'Connell, who is shattering the Big Ten's passing records, can also set a new mark for total offense.

Among the aerial records he has yet to beat are number of attempts and yards gained. He has tried 137 passes and has two games to go to beat the mark of 146 by Wisconsin's Johnny Coatta last year. O'Connell also has 78 completions, beating Coatta's mark of 76, and has gained 884 yards.

O'Connell is passing for so many yards he threatens the total offense mark—based on passing and running—of 1,079 set by Minnesota's Paul Giel last year.

If he maintains his current average against Ohio State Saturday and in the last game Nov. 22 with Northwestern, O'Connell easily should add 234 more passing yards and thus break Giel's mark.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13—(AP)—Coach Woody Hayes says if his Buckeyes can intercept one Illinois pass for every four completions, the Ohio State footballers will fare well Saturday.

The squad made many "interceptions" Wednesday during a two hour workout. Senior Bill Peterson impersonated the Illini's ace passer, Tommy O'Connell, and the squad went through Illinois' known pass plays.

Ike To Be Briefed On New Plan For Iran Oil Problem

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 — (AP)— State Department officials are expected to confer with President-elect Eisenhower or his representatives next week on a new formula for solving the Iranian problem.

It is understood also that the new approach is a subject for discussion between Secretary of State Dean Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in their talks in New York.

The central idea of the formula seems designed to get Iranian oil flowing out and money for it flowing in again at the earliest possible moment, without final settlement of the dispute between Iran and Britain over nationalization of Iran's oil industry.

State Department authorities feel that the longer the present impasse continues (and various Iranian agencies like the army and civil service go unpaid) the greater becomes the danger of a collapse of civil authority and the rise of Communist power in that strategic Middle Eastern land.

IN THE PAST these authorities have worked on the theory that a legal settlement of the Anglo-Iranian dispute, critical since Iran seized British-owned oil properties there last year, should logically precede or be a part of any settlement reviving the oil industry under Iranian control. But the new approach would relegate legal settlement to a lesser priority.

Eisenhower will have a chance to hear about this plan when he meets with President Truman next Tuesday to prepare for an orderly change of administrations. Eisenhower has designated Sen. Lodge (R-Mass.) as his State Department liaison man.

Despite appeals from Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain and President Truman, Iranian Premier Mossadegh has failed to agree to any settlement formula thus far put forward. Mossadegh last month broke relations with the British government.

Informants do not appear highly optimistic about the new plan.

For the proposal to succeed, the British would have to agree to let oil begin moving out of Iran to world markets again without having final agreement on the amount of compensation Iran should pay for the nationalized properties.

It is understood, United States authorities are thinking about the problem of getting agreement of oil companies to cooperate in (1) opening up and operating oil production facilities under Iranian government control, (2) making arrangements for transporting the oil which requires about 13 tankers a day, and (3) handling the ultimate sales.

Tropical Park, To Get Ice Rink

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13 — (AP)— Sun-drenched Pershing Square here is going to be transformed into a polar park Dec. 1.

An ice rink will be put into operation for exhibition skating right in the heart of downtown Los Angeles. The Business Men's Association is providing the 40 by 60-foot ice plot. Christmas trappings will transform the tropical park into a winter wonderland.

MANILA, Nov. 13—(AP)—A 115-mile-an-hour typhoon thrashed through the Batanes Island cluster off the Northern Philippines Thursday, but there were no reports of loss of life or property damage.

Sokolsky's These Days

ence, except perhaps in Congress or in offices under the New Deal during the war. However, many of them have been effective party workers during the past 20 years. In the course of the next decade, they will take over the Republican Party and will run it. Most of them be idealistically Republicas or they would not have chosen careers in a defeated party and stayed with it through the bleak years of failure.

The New Republicans have no history in the Republican Party except in this campaign. Few even know their names. Their loyalty is to Eisenhower the man, not to the party.

Politically, they are expected to wait their turn. If too many are elevated to high position before they have won confidence, it may hurt Eisenhower's chances of having smooth sailing in Congress.

Were the Republican working majorities in the two houses of Congress notable, these distinctions would not matter. However with the slim majority that the Republicans have (no actual working majority in either house), the greatest care must be taken to maintain the unity in the party achieved durng the campaign.

This will require political astuteness of the highest order. Roosevelt had a prolonged honeymoon period; Eisenhower will not have that because the Democrats will seek to rebuild their party as rapidly as possible, with a view to recapturing Congress in 1954.

Wheat Harvest Picture In '53 Is Rather Dark

U. S. Food Officials See No Big Reserve Because Of Weather

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 — (AP)— Government food officials are no longer fretting over a big reserve of wheat being stored under a federal price support program.

Because of prolonged dry weather, the outlook for this and other fall-sown grains intended for harvest next year was said to be precarious in many areas.

Thus, unless there is a quick turn in weather conditions the reserve being built up from this year's second largest wheat crop in history would be needed to help meet food and other market demands next year.

The department's semi-final report for the 1952 crop season said production is turning out to be the second largest on record, only 2.5 per cent below the top mark set in 1948.

This year's farm production of crops and livestock products will set a new record because the combined output of meat animals, poultry products, milk and wool is by far the largest in history and big enough to offset the 1948 advantage in crops.

This is 10 per cent larger than the average corn crop and nearly 12 per cent larger than last year's crop.

Ohio farms will produce 53 bushels of corn to the acre for a total crop of 189,051,000 bushels in 1952, the department estimated.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—(AP)—Football selections made on Nov. 13 simply can not be any better or any worse than those made any other time. So here comes this week's picks:

Michigan State over Notre Dame: A duel that compares with last week's Notre Dame-Oklahoma affair but this time the Irish appear doomed.

Maryland over Mssissippi: The Mississippians will work a minor miracle if they get a tie against Jack Scarbath & Company.

Georgia Tech over Alabama Your afternoon TV attraction. Tech's Turner and Teas are Dixie's modern Blanchard and Davis, of Army's wartime teams.

Oklahoma over Missouri: The Sooners to take out their anger on Missouri for last Saturday's defeat at Notre Dame.

SOUTHERN California over Washington: Washington has stolen quietly in the Coast Conference title race but its exit will be noisy even though Don Heinrich's passes will annoy the Trojans.

Tennessee over Florida: The 'Gators have primed for this one since the season started but the odds are against them.

Texas over Texas Christian: Texas has in T. Jones the conference's best passer, in Dick Ochoa the loop's best ground-gainer, in Gib Dawson the leading scorer and in Tom Stolhandske the leading pass receiver. Too much for TCU.

Michigan over Purdue: A close one. Purdue never has beaten Michigan in Ann Arbor and here's a shaky vote the jinx will hold.

Syracuse over Colgate: Syracuse is bowl hungry.

Dallas Gives Up Pro Grid Team

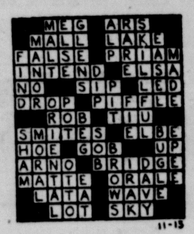

DALLAS, Nov. 13 — (AP)—Dallas was without professional football today just 11 months after it brought in a franchise with fanfare and ballyhoo that said the game couldn't miss in big, free-spending Texas.

The Dallas Texans, who lost seven games out of seven and almost a quarter of a million dollars, were orphaned Wednesday when the 16 stockholders turned the franchise back to the National Football League. The Texans thus become a "road club" and will play no more games in Dallas.

Ike To Be Briefed On New Plan For Iran Oil Problem

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 — (AP)— State Department officials are expected to confer with President-elect Eisenhower or his representatives next week on a new formula for solving the Iranian problem.

It is understood also that the new approach is a subject for discussion between Secretary of State Dean Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in their talks in New York.

The central idea of the formula seems designed to get Iranian oil flowing out and money for it flowing in again at the earliest possible moment, without final settlement of the dispute between Iran and Britain over nationalization of Iran's oil industry.

State Department authorities feel that the longer the present impasse continues (and various Iranian agencies like the army and civil service go unpaid) the greater becomes the danger of a collapse of civil authority and the rise of Communist power in that strategic Middle Eastern land.

IN THE PAST these authorities have worked on the theory that a legal settlement of the Anglo-Iranian dispute, critical since Iran seized British-owned oil properties there last year, should logically precede or be a part of any settlement reviving the oil industry under Iranian control. But the new approach would relegate legal settlement to a lesser priority.

Eisenhower will have a chance to hear about this plan when he meets with President Truman next Tuesday to prepare for an orderly change of administrations. Eisenhower has designated Sen. Lodge (R-Mass.) as his State Department liaison man.

Despite appeals from Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain and President Truman, Iranian Premier Mossadegh has failed to agree to any settlement formula thus far put forward. Mossadegh last month broke relations with the British government.

Informants do not appear highly optimistic about the new plan.

For the proposal to succeed, the British would have to agree to let oil begin moving out of Iran to world markets again without having final agreement on the amount of compensation Iran should pay for the nationalized properties.

It is understood, United States authorities are thinking about the problem of getting agreement of oil companies to cooperate in (1) opening up and operating oil production facilities under Iranian government control, (2) making arrangements for transporting the oil which requires about 13 tankers a day, and (3) handling the ultimate sales.

Tropical Park, To Get Ice Rink

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13 — (AP)— Sun-drenched Pershing Square here is going to be transformed into a polar park Dec. 1.

An ice rink will be put into operation for exhibition skating right in the heart of downtown Los Angeles. The Business Men's Association is providing the 40 by 60-foot ice plot. Christmas trappings will transform the tropical park into a winter wonderland.

MANILA, Nov. 13—(AP)—A 115-mile-an-hour typhoon thrashed through the Batanes Island cluster off the Northern Philippines Thursday, but there were no reports of loss of life or property damage.

AP Guesspert Picks Purdue, Notre Dame To Be Defeated

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—(AP)—Football selections made on Nov. 13 simply can not be any better or any worse than those made any other time. So here comes this week's picks:

Michigan State over Notre Dame: A duel that compares with last week's Notre Dame-Oklahoma affair but this time the Irish appear doomed.

Maryland over Mssissippi: The Mississippians will work a minor miracle if they get a tie against Jack Scarbath & Company.

Georgia Tech over Alabama Your afternoon TV attraction. Tech's Turner and Teas are Dixie's modern Blanchard and Davis, of Army's wartime teams.

Oklahoma over Missouri: The Sooners to take out their anger on Missouri for last Saturday's defeat at Notre Dame.

SOUTHERN California over Washington: Washington has stolen quietly in the Coast Conference title race but its exit will be noisy even though Don Heinrich's passes will annoy the Trojans.

Tennessee over Florida: The 'Gators have primed for this one since the season started but the odds are against them.

Texas over Texas Christian: Texas has in T. Jones the conference's best passer, in Dick Ochoa the loop's best ground-gainer, in Gib Dawson the leading scorer and in Tom Stolhandske the leading pass receiver. Too much for TCU.

Michigan over Purdue: A close one. Purdue never has beaten Michigan in Ann Arbor and here's a shaky vote the jinx will hold.

Syracuse over Colgate: Syracuse is bowl hungry.

Princeton over Yale: Yale is the surprise team of the East but this time it gets the surprise.

Dallas Gives Up Pro Grid Team

DALLAS, Nov. 13 — (AP)—Dallas was without professional football today just 11 months after it brought in a franchise with fanfare and ballyhoo that said the game couldn't miss in big, free-spending Texas.

The Dallas Texans, who lost seven games out of seven and almost a quarter of a million dollars, were orphaned Wednesday when the 16 stockholders turned the franchise back to the National Football League. The Texans thus become a "road club" and will play no more games in Dallas.

Wheat Harvest Picture In '53 Is Rather Dark

U. S. Food Officials See No Big Reserve Because Of Weather

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 — (AP)— Government food officials are no longer fretting over a big reserve of wheat being stored under a federal price support program.

Because of prolonged dry weather, the outlook for this and other fall-sown grains intended for harvest next year was said to be precarious in many areas.

Thus, unless there is a quick turn in weather conditions the reserve being built up from this year's second largest wheat crop in history would be needed to help meet food and other market demands next year.

The department's semi-final report for the 1952 crop season said production is turning out to be the second largest on record, only 2.5 per cent below the top mark set in 1948.

This year's farm production of crops and livestock products will set a new record because the combined output of meat animals, poultry products, milk and wool is by far the largest in history and big enough to offset the 1948 advantage in crops.

Topping this year's crops is a corn yield of 3.3 billion bushels, also the second largest on record.

This is 10 per cent larger than the average corn crop and nearly 12 per cent larger than last year's crop.

Ohio farms will produce 53 bushels of corn to the acre for a total crop of 189,051,000 bushels in 1952, the department estimated.

The 53-bushel yield compares to a national average of 40.2 bushels an acre, according to the department's semi-annual report.

ence, except perhaps in Congress or in offices under the New Deal during the war. However, many of them have been effective party workers during the past 20 years. In the course of the next decade, they will take over the Republican Party and will run it. Most of them be idealistically Republicas or they would not have chosen careers in a defeated party and stayed with it through the bleak years of failure.

The New Republicans have no history in the Republican Party except in this campaign. Few even know their names. Their loyalty is to Eisenhower the man, not to the party.

Politically, they are expected to wait their turn. If too many are elevated to high position before they have won confidence, it may hurt Eisenhower's chances of having smooth sailing in Congress.

Were the Republican working majorities in the two houses of Congress notable, these distinctions would not matter. However with the slim majority that the Republicans have (no actual working majority in either house), the greatest care must be taken to maintain the unity in the party achieved durng the campaign.

This will require political astuteness of the highest order. Roosevelt had a prolonged honeymoon period; Eisenhower will not have that because the Democrats will seek to rebuild their party as rapidly as possible, with a view to recapturing Congress in 1954.

Beautification Near Complete For Veterans Burial Section

Cemetery Glen Being Set For Memorial Day

Mortuary Is Razed; Stones Placed For Honor Markers

Beautification work on the bivouac of Pickaway County's military dead has virtually been completed, needing only minor details and the crowning touch of Springtime's grass and flowers.

As result of the work during the last few months, arrangements have been made to hold Memorial Day services next year near the soldiers' burial plot in Forest Cemetery. The services heretofore have been held just inside the cemetery grounds.

Dedication ceremonies are planned during the Memorial rites for a new soldiers' section, located on a gentle slope facing the present plots for veterans, their widows and mothers. The burial section for widows and mothers has also been enlarged.

The cemetery's present soldiers' section has room enough for only about six more burials. Burials in the new section will begin at its eastern end.

ROOM FOR the new section for military dead was purchased by Pickaway County commissioners about 10 years ago at a cost of $25,000. The 9,000-square-foot area is considered large enough for 500 burials.

The commissioners also purchased a 65X54 foot area adjoining the new veterans plot. The spot, bought for $818, was occupied until recently by an old, vacant mortuary.

Beautification of the Soldiers Glen, reached by either of the cemetery's main drives, was first proposed by Fred C. Clark.

Although full costs can not yet be figured reasonably close, Clark said, the final amount will probably be around $2,500.

All cost is being met by the county, Clark said.

"The county commissioners deserve a lot of credit for the way they've cooperated in this project," Clark added. "They've been for it from the beginning, feeling the veterans needed a better looking spot in the cemetery.

"IT HAS also been apparent for some time that we needed a better location for our Memorial Day services. Held in the glen, surrounded by the military graves, the ceremonies will be quiet and aided by the parking space available on all sides.

"Cars can be parked along the drives that lead to and from the spot in one of the most beautiful sections of the cemetery."

Clark also emphasized the assistance given by Edson Crites, superintendent of the cemetery, and Charles Graham, foreman for Crites.

Stone from the dismantled mortuary has been used to place large memorial slabs on both sides of the tiny valley.

"Mothers and wives of our comrades."

THE THIRD stone, placed across the lane in front of the new soldiers' section, carries the words:

"Soldier rest—You will not be forgotten. Erected 1952".

All the new soldiers' section has been seeded.

Myrtle will be planted along the sloping rim by Pickaway Garden Club. Mrs. Bert Lyle, chairman of the club's civic committee, said the planting will be done in the Spring.

Evergreens flank the decorative stone for the new burial section, and a stone bench will be placed to one side.

On the slope above, a flagpole will be raised. Clark said he hopes for donation of a large flag from the federal government.

Truman Shuns Large Number Of Job Offers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 — (AP)— If President Truman is unemployed after he leaves the White House it won't be for lack of job offers.

He has received a large number of invitations from firms who want him to work for them after Jan. 20, White House sources say, but has accepted none of them.

All those who have made offers, it was learned, have received letters telling them in effect that their bids for the President's services have been placed on file.

Beyond this, the White House made no information available on Truman's employment prospects once he returns to private life.

There wasn't even a specific "no comment" on a published report that the president has received one offer of a $1 million a year post. It appeared, however, that if he has had any such offer he is keeping it to himself.

Truman takes the attitude that his after-inauguration plans, unless they should involve a public service of some kind, are his own business. His staff shares that view.

It was learned unofficially, however, that among the concerns interested in getting the President's services is a publishing syndicate, the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Indian Teacher Now Minister

CARDSTON, Canada (AP) — For 20 years the Rev. Douglas S. Pitts kept postponing his ordination as an Anglican clergyman. There would be a postponement each time he was called upon to do Indian school work.

He climaxed 20 years' work in Indian schools recently by entering the ministry at the first Anglican ordination service ever held on the Blood Indian Reserve in Southern Alberta.

The Rev. Pitts, who has been principal of St. Paul's Anglican Indian Residential School on the Blood Reserve near here, now is expecting an appointment to a parish. He is married and has two sons.

Radio 'Hams' Aid In Defense

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — If this city is ever to have a first-rate catastrophe, Tuesday night would probably be the best time because almost 150 radio hams are mobilized for just that purpose.

The group, under the direction of Jerry L. Dame, poses a weekly problem involving a city-wide breakdown in communications and then proceeds to solve it. Sometimes the "hams" act as agents of the civil defense department or the Red Cross. Actually they are the Four Lakes Amateur Radio Club.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

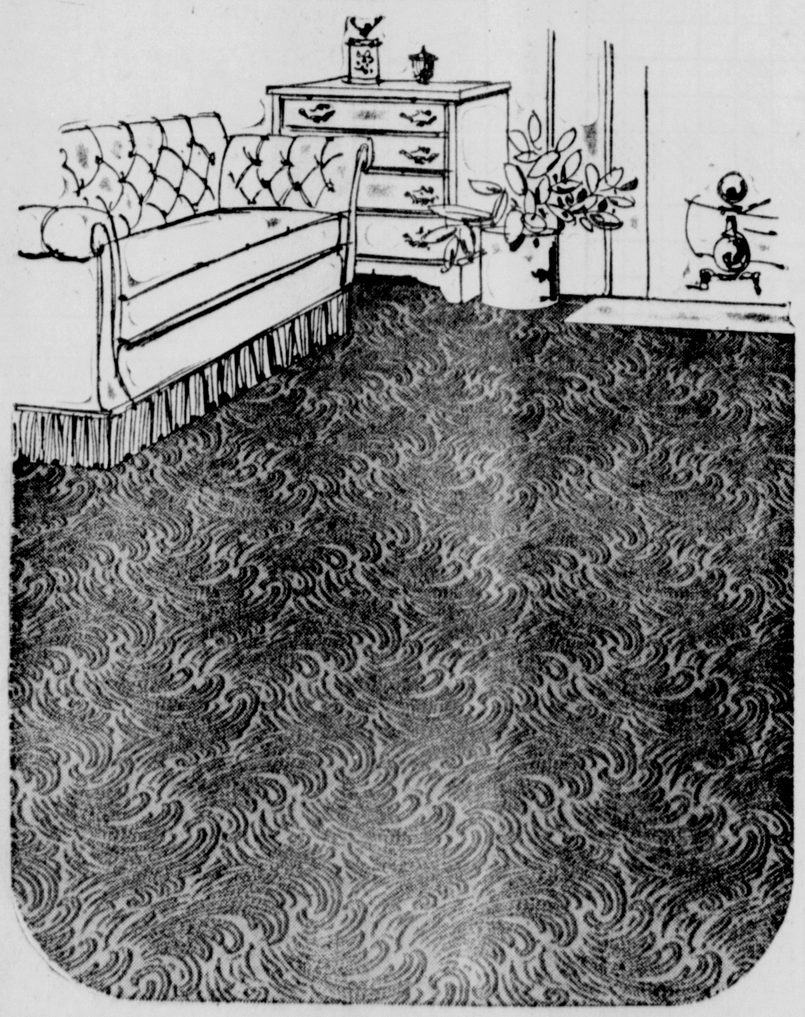

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Clark also emphasized the assistance given by Edson Crites, superintendent of the cemetery, and Charles Graham, foreman for Crites.

Stone from the dismantled mortuary has been used to place large memorial slabs on both sides of the tiny valley.

One, placed in the present soldiers' secton, carries the inscription:

"Mothers and wives of our comrades."

THE THIRD stone, placed across the lane in front of the new soldiers' section, carries the words:

"Soldier rest—You will not be forgotten. Erected 1952".

Sunken flat into the slope leading up to the new soldiers' section, this four-ton stone is placed above a stone arch from the mortuary doorway, likewise embedded in the soil.

All the new soldiers' section has been seeded.

Myrtle will be planted along the sloping rim by Pickaway Garden Club. Mrs. Bert Lyle, chairman of the club's civic committee, said the planting will be done in the Spring.

Evergreens flank the decorative stone for the new burial section, and a stone bench will be placed to one side.

On the slope above, a flagpole will be raised. Clark said he hopes for donation of a large flag from the federal government.

Indian Teacher Now Minister

CARDSTON, Canada (AP) — For 20 years the Rev. Douglas S. Pitts kept postponing his ordination as an Anglican clergyman. There would be a postponement each time he was called upon to do Indian school work.

He climaxed 20 years' work in Indian schools recently by entering the ministry at the first Anglican ordination service ever held on the Blood Indian Reserve in Southern Alberta.

The Rev. Pitts, who has been principal of St. Paul's Anglican Indian Residential School on the Blood Reserve near here, now is expecting an appointment to a parish. He is married and has two sons.

Truman Shuns Large Number Of Job Offers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 — (AP)— If President Truman is unemployed after he leaves the White House it won't be for lack of job offers.

He has received a large number of invitations from firms who want him to work for them after Jan. 20, White House sources say, but has accepted none of them.

All those who have made offers, it was learned, have received letters telling them in effect that their bids for the President's services have been placed on file.

Beyond this, the White House made no information available on Truman's employment prospects once he returns to private life.

There wasn't even a specific "no comment" on a published report that the president has received one offer of a $1 million a year post. It appeared, however, that if he has had any such offer he is keeping it to himself.

Truman takes the attitude that his after-inauguration plans, unless they should involve a public service of some kind, are his own business. His staff shares that view.

It was learned unofficially, however, that among the concerns interested in getting the President's services is a publishing syndicate, the North American Newspaper Alliance.

There were some indications that Truman himself hasn't decided exactly what he will do upon his retirement from office.

The general expectation among Truman's associates is that he will go for a while, at least, to his home in Independence, Mo.

Walls told police, "I shot those people for personal reasons, over an argument about cleaning clothes. I don't want any more trouble." (International)

Radio 'Hams' Aid In Defense

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — If this city is ever to have a first-rate catastrophe, Tuesday night would probably be the best time because almost 150 radio hams are mobilized for just that purpose.

The group, under the direction of Jerry L. Dame, poses a weekly problem involving a city-wide breakdown in communications and then proceeds to solve it. Sometimes the "hams" act as agents of the civil defense department or the Red Cross. Actually they are the Four Lakes Amateur Radio Club.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slowdown of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years.
